Thread: FBI raids Jeffrey Epstein's private Caribbean island

duplex - August 13, 2019, 11:35 am

It carries on!!!

While we assumed that the big whales connected to Jeffrey Epstein would not be revealed after his death/suicide/murder (who knows)

What we do know is that there are now less legal issues in regarding to Jeffrey Epstein's evidence i.e no human rights, since he's dead.

Jeffrey also listed 301 British associates in his little black book which involves former PM Tony Blair and Mick Jagger. Source

It's stated he deliberately collected sensitive and damaging information on many famous/wealthy individuals. Source

Let's talk.

Mmm, we'll see but it's all about the pecking order, some minor elites will still get fucked.

Yeah, I think you're right. I also think that this whole situation has opened a lot of eyes regarding what's going on in the world. Regardless, anyone connected and in his little black book thing should go down, but I don't know if that will happen.

Aaaaand nothing will be released because they are going to cover the shit up. The guy was extremely smart. Why did he gather all that info on elite people? Some people are thinking he was an agent for another country gathering info. It's pretty blurry as to how he got all of his money.

We don't know that, it's getting harder and harder to cover stuff up, this information about the elite is worth tons
