Thread: If someone live streamed torturing a dog/animal....

mendo X - August 13, 2019, 2:14 pm

If someone live streamed torturing a dog/animal.... and they demanded ransom to make it stop. And they posted a bitcoin address. Would you send any bitcoin to them to make it stop? Reason i asked is i just watched a fkd up video..

Moseby - August 13, 2019, 2:18 pm

I'm not sure. Really depends. I mean if you are f*cked up enough to torture an animal on livestream I'm not quite sure they would stop when they get some funds. Probably just continue til the dog's dead or funds will cover the week

Porn - August 13, 2019, 2:21 pm

I would pay the ransom if it was my dog it was only $1k. Usually people do this with humans because you can charge up to $250k if the dad/mom is rich.

Yeah right, if it would be my dog but otherwise I wouldn't really mind if it's random dog from the street.

Hard to say because you never know if he will keep his word. Plus, also depends on where it's streamed because the stream could just randomly go offline and we would never know if it stopped or not.

Spaark - August 14, 2019, 5:19 pm

I don't really know if ransoms work in all cases.

I think they'd get reported to the police and hunted down before they get the money they're after.

lesstech - August 14, 2019, 5:28 pm

You should spend less time on bestgore imo

@OP someone might probably not everyone. I don't get why you are asking this though. I wouldn't. I don't think a ransom would be the right way to fix the issue. If anything it'd be enabling them to do it more often.

This thread is a prime example of whats wrong with BG.

This thread isn't about bestgore though?

I visit BG, YNC & other sites daily. There's less murdering of animals than humans.

Also sites like BG make people realize things take my experience as an example.

I can see when fucked up shit's going down IRL, it also removes the numbing effect of death (from movies, games etc) once you actually see how fucked it is. I got nothing but sympathy when I see someone's demise.

Well if anything it's not BG, sounds more like facebook live or instagram live. BG & sites like it are not live and certainly not where one would ask for ransom.

I guess not. Then again, been forever since I went on that site. I didn't stick around, that is for sure.

I don't blame you it's some pretty sick shit man. Worse of all this is people doing these things to other people. :(

Makes me wonder about humanity.

Motusora - August 14, 2019, 9:16 pm im tired with these so called animal lovers that only have care on certain species like dogs , cats , etc .

but still still eat pig / cow meat. are their lives lower than your pets ?

on topic : no, i won't send anything . just report it to the authority.

Sure does. So many scumbags in those videos I couldn't stay just out of anger. Filthy scumbags some of them.

Yes, they all cry like babies when its them.

i'll better pay $$ Some good hitman

Riggs - August 15, 2019, 2:33 am

I believe these are called 'red rooms' on the dark net. Not my thing.

dailybeast - August 15, 2019, 3:19 am

Probably not, depends on the situation as well

Charger - August 15, 2019, 7:26 am

No. Not my problem. Plus, they probably wouldn't stop anyway. Also, by paying they would definitely do it again.

debian - August 15, 2019, 8:48 am

Reminds me of Save Toby mrknol - August 15, 2019, 8:52 am

I'm assuming if you show the live stream to vegans most of them will empty their wallets.

Mr_Wakowski - August 15, 2019, 10:42 am

It would probably get you more enemies than you would want. People go to some crazy lengths to stop animal abuse online. Its like painting a big target on yourself.

Alternatively, the media attention it might garner is another reason why I wouldn't do it; apart from it being a completely f-ed up thing to do.

CertifiedNamer - August 15, 2019, 10:45 am

You would have to be psychopathic to do something like this.

My Computer - August 15, 2019, 10:45 am

Nope. If you send them money then that will just encourage them to continue doing more of that dirty type of work, begging for more ransom from others. Also, I'm broke as hell at the moment so I wouldn't be able to pay the ransom.

Omniscient - August 15, 2019, 8:27 pm

Why are you watching that type of material at all?
