Appreciate it, old one was black and purple.

Had to close it since I couldn't edit it due to it being a 2017 thread so I remade this instead which took me about 2 hours.

Yes, but does depend on the person.

I wouldn't provide the information if I didn't get an address, that would turn it into a refund.

Or would it be a partial refund if of 50% if you can get the phone and not the address

Still active? Need an address done. I have some basic things on the guy like his FB, phone number and what I THINK is his email address. Let me know :)

Rawberg - February 15, 2021, 5:14 am

What do you need of information to doxx the person?

oRequiem - September 3, 2024, 1:02 am

UPDATE: Haven't been at this for a while, but I am currently taking orders again.

I will probably only use PM's/Convo's for contact for this service. Fastest orders will obviously be in the US.

Prices are still the same, most likely will provide Database Entries on each version if I find any information.

I will also do the job before payment so I don't have to worry about the contract taking a long time to complete. You would provide payment after I confirm information. Plus it saves a lot of time if I can't do the order.

You basically send me all of the information you have on the person in a private message and I'll give it a look over to see if it's enough information to find him or her. If it's the case, I'll work on the information and you can send a contract the moment the information is done being formatted and will send over the payment then the contract will be complete.
