Thread: What was the craziest sheet you did in school?

duck - August 15, 2019, 9:55 am

What was it? What kind of sheet you have done?

1. Like in school we used to spit in teachers coffee/tea or put chalk in it, they never noticed anything odd I think.
2. Once we blew up the entire computer, smoke and extreme smell coming out of the back and the entire school floor had no electricity.
3. We also used to put pins on chair so if one sits, his ass gets plugged lol, or glue'd the entire chair, they were always so angry.
4. Once we used to block the entire door (with chairs) so the teacher couldn't get inside the class, she was always so pissed she stood here, and waited until we take the chair outs.
5. We also used to fuck up with other class mates, we set-up alarm clock, to some shit and in 10-20 minutes after the lesson started it started screaming.
6. We also used to throw shoes, pencil case etc out of the window so other class mates had to go outside pick it up.

I don't even remember what we did, it was a lot and most of the things appear to be very normal to me but some were fucked.

Lol thats crazy.

I was once thinking of installing remote mouse to teacher computer or purchasing the USB Prank sheet that it basically keeps clicking and typing random sheet.

My Computer - August 15, 2019, 10:13 am

Did my homework and assignments on time. Pretty crazy, I know.

Drinking and smoking/getting high.

Everytime the teacher turns around we'd all down a shot. And then on break we go get more shots and smoke a lil real quick.

When he would walk near our tables we sprayed a ton of axe and all chewed gum so he doesn't smell the alcohol.

It was ~22 people and a night class. And it was like 16 of us doing this shit. It was the funnest shit ever.

Crazy, class actually only smoked on toilets.

CertifiedNamer - August 15, 2019, 11:48 am

This thread honestly just makes me feel bad for teachers.

Me and the boys wrote on a wall in school, there will be a shooting and when. The school got closed that day and police investigated it. We were about 15 years old. What dumb fuggs we were.

In Europe, no one would believe this and they would wipe it off the wall or put world map on it :) The teacher would probably also laugh at it, (depends which one) some would be pissed.

One of my class mate did something to this.

We used to spray Swastika (Nazi) on school toilets.

And then draw Luftwaffe on the board in our school :D :D

No one ever snitched on us, so we didnt run into problem.

I might have thread about this on hackforums D

This didn't really happened in school because you or someone else were with him on some chat, but hm okay.

Interesting video

When I was in High school I used to have a Samsung galaxy s4 which had an IR sensor. I used it to control the beamers and fuck the teachers lmao. They replaced the beamers since then I didn't do it because it was fun but not worth the trouble.

We always wanted to do that, but we never figured out how.

There was little no applications only for Wifi ones.

If your phone didn't have an IR blaster then that is why it didn't work. Modern phones do not have them.

I know, we did have IR Blaster and I know Modern phones doesn't have it anymore.

But we couldn't find the proper application or idk why didnt that work.

Do you have some remote control I can purchase and then fuck up with the teachers lol?

Something like this may/may not work with their specific projector. If you want my advice find out the model of the projector and buy a remote off of ebay, doesn't matter if it's a knockoff just needs to be compatible.

Yea most phones now don't have any IR sensor, they just use wifi...

That's pretty sad tbh that IR sensor was universal so you could control everything that had IR. Like old tv's and shit.

I stole some snacks from a schoolmate and when the teacher told me to give it back, I put it in my mouth and ate it right in front of her lol.

Lyralei - August 15, 2019, 4:19 pm

Got pissed at the classes on local IT college, bunch of me and my mates switched the keys on the keyboard from QWERTY to ABCDEF. It went back the day after lmao.

Back in HS i had to repeat once due to literally escaping school grounds to skip school. Had a bunch of shit like how i get called out by the principal a bunch of times due to not wearing the fucking uncomfortable uniforms they have.

Haha, well we did bunch of shit on the school computers but problem was that they could connect to the computer at any time and see everything.

Wouldn't have the balls to RAT a government owned school computer lmao. At most i'd just change the DNS to access sites since our school didn't have a walled garden intranet. Fun times though.

I did something similar to that, but i'm not going in-to details.

They had all kind of firewalls but I made small script that it'll log out and cancel it, that way it stopped most of the process, I then requested to load explorer.exe (windows gui) and could do all kind of shit i wanted.
