- Bot works perfect for almost all time. Just only few times went offline as Engineer fix it and made new additions, but this is always for users benefit, which is something to thank. Plus, OP gave us one week for free for the inconvenience.
-Support is excellent. They'r almost all day online, and every time i asked(even stupid questions) their answer in a very professional way, trying to get in detail to not have to ask same twice.
-Service, so far its been very profitable(despite i only have 1 week) and seems OP knows what he is doing here.

Hope it keeps this way in the near future, and probably will know it after a full month.

The betting websites will ban the account if you have those kinds of sketchy things such as a bot, it states on their TOS that you are not allowed to use those kinds of things + once the acc gets banned you will not get a penny of your winnings to your account.

"Our bot runs on a server in europe" You will also get banned for different ip's from completely different locations on the account. It was a good idea from o.p but o.p didn't think it through properly.

We currently have an antiban function so the bot will manually click on everything, for the bookmaker is not possible to understand if it is an users or not, every action is 100% human like, big thanks to the dev for this

So it is totally possible to keep the same ip even lifetime, the user can always log into into his account with the same IP of the bot using his dedicated proxy.

Look dude I dont want to salestrash or something but I work in a igaming company and I know how the guys that pays out the money works.

If you have a big win like over 1000 EUR they will not pay out your money instantly, they will check your account and your bets and everything and look for sketchy things to just have something against you to keep the money.

Good luck with sales.

The program we use isn't bannable for a few reasons:
First, the program uses a physical mouse to click on the physical website and does not use any get or post requests, secondly, each bet is placed randomly and not all at the same time.

Third, every user bet amount placed is different from each other, even if they use the Exact follow the strategy we make it slightly different. This is so we are able to make it seem accounts are more unique and not connected to each other.

The whole system for auto betting was made methodically so that users are safe from bans. I did everything that will keep users unbanned, and after 2 weeks of testing and using it on over 10+ accounts for more than a week no users have been banned or even questioned.

Also, each proxy we use is a dedicated proxy which costs us 2 - 4 USD a piece the same one used for Instagram botting. Each proxy is from a different country and city. Not only that each user has access to their own proxy which they can use to log into their account, to further nullify any possible detection.

Also would like to mention that other tipsters will most likely be using my service in the near future as I have confirmation from two of them already.

Does the betting bot have a Money Management System? That it (hopefully) won money immediately reinvested in higher bets?
And could I set something like a lever to bet a maximum of $ 20, if $ 100 on the betting account, or something. The thing is not too risky. Does the betting bot ever take over the money management or is it completely static, adjustable by me or you?

It is set and forget System? After one month, I come back?

hdhd - August 20, 2019, 9:55 am

What betting sites does it work on?

What betting sites do you recommend to use it on?

Can we expect a refund if the betting account is banned due to bot use?

its funny how everyone is concerned about their account getting banned (which is a legitimate concern) but no one is questioning the absolutely ridiculous claim it wins at 80%. Everyone that knows a tiny bit about betting knows thats BS. And no I am not talking about 2 months or 50 bets, everyone can run insanely hot over small sample sizes. I am talking about large sample sizes that are statistically relevant for an evaluation of the EV/ROI. Even the elite pro sportsbettors are struggling reaching 60% and you guys made a software that wins at 80%....yeah right. And instead of enjoying the millions you can make with this using compouding interest in a relatively short period of time, you sell this for 76usd per month.....give me a break.

The software itself doesn't find the bets to place, duepi has been running his own betting service for a while here: https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5986167 My software simply places the bets he picks, it itself isn't using any AI technology to determine the bets to place.

In response to this post, xjamer explained how this bot works:

For what concerns the 80% win rate, that's the one achieved by the betting service used by the bot. We're not talking about something that is just one month old, even if it appeared on HF few weeks ago.

Ombra - August 25, 2019, 2:10 pm

Please note that no additional investment is required after purchasing the bot. You will need funds for bets but all other costs are covered.

Posting to come back, this seems really interesting!

Have a few questions over this since i the past i used a service of betting with good calls, but had to place bets manually and while working for me was a bit hard since sometimes was at meetings, out of the office, etc.

1. Even if you say that you can start with a low balance, what would be the best knowing that by the month you will likely want to renew for another month?
2. the bets are placed over the 7 days of the week, knowing that you maybe bet on certain sport/league?

Thanks!

I bought this bot 10 days ago, I started with $100 BTC, on the first day I lost them all.
I added another $100 since 9 days until today I'm -$160
I haven't earned anything.

I know it's betting in the end and losing is normal, but what I can say there is nothing special in this bot
here is some last results

again I know it's betting and loss is possible, I'm not trying to sales trash, just sharing My experience
If you compare your screenshots with the live spreadsheet from GoldenBot, there seems to be some differences. Are you only using their bot, or are you also placing some bets yourself?

Thanks for sharing you experience mate, as you have shown our results are 100% real, if fact we had 3 Bad days and we putted the same results into the spreadsheet, it is gambling so yes going up and down is totally normal ?

Its because the bot cannot put livebets yet, so duepi post them on discord/the forum and then whoever is online can manual bet on them, so all botusers have not recieved the livebets unless they sit on discord ready and wait to manual bet.

Many thanks for pointing it out! Yes this is true we give support for scheduled bets only for now, live betting is supported online at half time and we should be able to support live betting fully with next update ?

Thanks for taking time to post your review, I'm aware of your situation, and that's linked to the amount betted for each match, you betted way more than what I suggest for the money management strategy, that's way you lost money with that.

That's a very important factor in a betting strategy, we will not win everyday, but with time we get positive results, if you bet too much you can't have the money to bet on other matches and you will be in loss.

Instead the correct thing to do is to bet with a good money management strategy as explained many times,

Anyone can start with any amount since it is scalable but you need to put the right value based on the deposited amount, that's the only thing to do for the users, everything else is done by me and by the dev. It is all autopilot.

Anyway we got good results recently, yesterday 3/3 won today 4/3 won,

Time is the key ?

Basically what he is saying is it's not set and forget, you gotta be involved in this every day and change settings and such, it's not the sit back and relax system as suggested.

Quote:Basically what he is saying is it's not set and forget, you gotta be involved in this every day and change settings and such, it's not the sit back and relax system as suggested.
Emh? Not at all, users don't need to do anything daily.

They need to setup the amount betted one time, I suggest 4% fixed amount of the starting balance to play safe, you betted more than 4% and busted, that's what happened.

Users don't need to do change settings or anything else after setting the right amount one time, this task require 2 minutes, a single time, everything else is fully autopilot.

Here is my updated honest review.

The Good.
I love the idea of the Golden Bot, deposit your funds, and set up your account with the owners so you will earn money daily via autopilot.

The only non-autopilot task is you will have to do is adjust your bet amount daily if your balance is positive from the initial deposit, otherwise leave it.

They recommend 4% of your balance as your base bet, and it's a good recommendation, anything over would be risky, anything less would be more security but less profits.

Withdraw has to go through review, but mine took about 10 minutes for $600.

The Bad.
The website they use "Sportsbet.io"

Sportsbet.io's withdrawal security is only "Google Auth" which you can't add to your account because the bot needs to login to make the bets. So that leaves your balance UNSECURE and all you need to process a withdrawal is a usename and password, which you supply to the owners of the bot to get it going.

Sportsbet.io DOES NOT allow US Players, and can process a KYC anytime if they suspect anything, withdrawal amount, bet orders etc.

So me, being a US Player, I had to withdraw my funds immediatley after a few days of further research reading stories of US players using RDP, VPN in their designated gambling countries and still getting KYC because of the amount they we're withdrawing. It seems like $2K+ is the popular trigger for them to ask you. I was ready to deposit more but then realized there is no withdrawal security except Google Auth and I can't add it since then it won't work with the auth. And that is another gamble you are playing with your withdrawals.

I recommend this product if 1. You trust the owners won't go rogue and do a mass withdrawal at any time. 2. You're on a continent that the website allows so you can KYC if asked.

Otherwise I will switch to duepi's manual trading for now until something is released that will protect US gamblers.

"The only non-autopilot task is you will have to do is adjust your bet amount daily if your balance is positive from the initial deposit, otherwise leave it."

I think you misunderstood here, setting a new betting amout is not required daily, you can do when you want, like every week or so, there is no daily action required, the full idea of this bot is to bet in autopilot without any effort user side.

"Sportsbet.io DOES NOT allow US Players, and can process a KYC anytime if they suspect anything, withdrawal amount, bet orders etc."

A kind of, we are using this bot since August, no one ever got any requests of id verification actually, and almost all my customers are from USA, that's because we use custom dedicated proxy for each user as you know, and they work super fine, no one got any issue on that.

If your concern is for the $2000 threshold you can simply cash out $1800 and ask us to change your account, new mail new password and new IP, really easy and that problem is solved.

Anyway, thanks for your opinion was a pleasure to deal with you and I'm happy you closed your account with profits made in autopilot from me.

I hope you will find my manual betting service good as the bot one.

Wish you the best ?
