

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Placid dog growling

HF.Psych - August 23, 2019, 8:42 am

Hey,

So for the last few nights at the same time I've been awoken by my service dog growling at the wall. He's usually really good and ignores most of the sounds that could distract him.

But recently he's been growling a lot, he's been really anxious and he won't go into the front room without me. Last few nights there has been a few unexplained things happen. As I went to leave the apartment something fell and smashed on the ground. Then later on last night a wine glass smashed. I'm a single man who doesn't drink alcohol, I do have wine glasses but never touch them, they are at the back of the cubard.

I've ordered 3 cameras which have night vision, motion sensor and sound alerts.

Anyone else's dog do this? Is my dog broken?

Mix - August 23, 2019, 4:45 pm

Your dog might be seeing spirits or other afterlife beings since dogs can sense other things and not see the true colour we have no idea what they really can see.

CyberStrike - September 3, 2019, 2:55 am

(Aug 23, 2019 08:42 AM)HF.Psych Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hey,

So for the last few nights at the same time I've been awoken by my service dog growling at the wall. He's usually really good and ignores most of the sounds that could distract him.

But recently he's been growling a lot, he's been really anxious and he won't go into the front room without me. Last few nights there has been a few unexplained things happen. As I went to leave the apartment something fell and smashed on the ground. Then later on last night a wine glass smashed. I'm a single man who doesn't drink alcohol, I do have wine glasses but never touch them, they are at the back of the cubard.

I've ordered 3 cameras which have night vision, motion sensor and sound alerts.

Anyone else's dog do this? Is my dog broken?

I must concur ghost or paranormal activity, your dog always will warn you if something is up, stay safe and your pupper too.

HF.Psych - September 3, 2019, 11:36 am

(Sep 3, 2019 02:55 AM)CyberStrike Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I must concur ghost or paranormal activity, your dog always will warn you if something is up, stay safe and your pupper too.

I believe I'm getting out of this town shortly, breakdown in relationship means I have no purpose here as I'm an outsider anyway.

watthefux - September 3, 2019, 12:03 pm

Man, this is so creepy. I used to have a chow chow/husky mix and she would bark at the front door entrance all night long, even tho I couldn't see anyone there.

I even went as far as to go check outside right in the middle of the night while shitting my pants(I was 12 at the time) and there was NOBODY, but she just kept barking and barking while fixating the door.

Now, I believe in spirits, so I chalked it up to that.

HF.Psych - September 3, 2019, 12:04 pm

(Sep 3, 2019 12:03 PM)watthefux Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Man, this is so creepy. I used to have a chow chow/husky mix and she would bark at the front door entrance all night long, even tho I couldn't see anyone there.

I even went as far as to go check outside right in the middle of the night while shitting my pants(I was 12 at the time) and there was NOBODY, but she just kept barking and barking while fixating the door.

Now, I believe in spirits, so I chalked it up to that.

Yeah I have no idea what's going, getting out of here soon is a good idea.

Fruitcake - September 3, 2019, 12:08 pm

Yeah if I saw my dog growling at nothing id be OUTTIE like a mf man! Wild! Post updates