One winner?

Crazy boy. Inb4 fake contest and he gets reclosed gg.

Should pay Omni the $1k rn! Lol

DOG - August 23, 2019, 8:07 pm
Never won anything. This time I have a good feeling!

Bear - August 23, 2019, 8:07 pm
Welcome back. Why not split it amongst multiple winners?

Just my 2 cents.

Lavish Living - August 23, 2019, 8:07 pm
Welcome to Gamblers.

I hope you enjoy your stay!

Technicaly if dead line is 7th september and current post is 87.
Plus knowing 14 days left for dead line.

At this rate we may reach 1300 +- posts

Now if a generate is being used between 2-1300
The average hit will be 3 digit lets do a test

453
839
250

The higher % of winning is if your post id is 3 digited

Lets assume last id is 1400
Excluding OP the winner is between 2 and 1400

I wrote a code to simplify the outcome.

PHP Code
<?php function getlength(number) { return number.toString().length;
}

let win = {
"between":[2,1400],
"result":{}

for (i = win.between[0]; i <= win.between[1]; i++) {

    if(!win.result[`${getlength(i)}_digit`]){ win.result[`${getlength(i)}_digit`] = 0;
    }
win.result[`${getlength(i)}_digit`] += 1;
}
Object.entries(win.result).forEach(([key, value]) => { console.log(`
    ${key} have a %${((value/win.between[1])*100).toFixed(0)} of winning
    `);
})

1_digit have a %1 of winning

2_digit have a %6 of winning

3_digit have a %64 of winning

4_digit have a %29 of winning

At certain point I can, not can't.
I traveled at the speed of light for few seconds and I got like 5 years ahead from you, I managed to get the internet connection here, check who won and then came back.

The process was quiet difficult, the one I was returning to the past (back to the year 2019). I did some specific type of motion in space, I can't talk about yet..

I seen, I'm proud of felix even if he didn't beat tseries.

Funny story short, my gf loves tseries and listens to those songs.. Everytime when I reminded her about the pewdiepie and tseries war she would get mad.. So you know.. I had to convert from being a pew fan to a tseries fan lol

I'm a qa engineer. Not sure if you know what it is. I design and execute product testing in order to identify and fix products' flaws before they go to market. When a car company wants to assess a vehicle, for example, it puts crash-test dummies inside and simulates a car wreck. When a food company wants to evaluate peanut butter, it conducts a series of taste tests. And when a software company wants to gauge software, it runs it through a series of diagnostic tests to examine the programming code. It's interesting and I have about 5 years of experience and I like it

Well I quit my job to go to school. Tuition is expensive. Also when i was in sales that is what I would earn a year but it could vary.

I liked taking more time off rather than earn more.

Tech is more guarenteed income with better work/home life balance imo.

He did that himself. Also if you think about it logically speaking, why would he risk getting his entire account closed for using multiple accounts? It doesn't make sense to me, and I doubt he's actually a 'multi' but we'll see. Especially after all the effort he put in this thread.

Yeah that makes sense.

Currently every post has a .038% statistical chance of winning but that increase will be diluted further with more and more posts.

That is calculated with a 2600 post count.

.37% chance with every post currently but it will be dropping as more posts "post".

Although the more you post, the higher percentage of posts to total posts you will have therefore increasing your odds.

On behalf of the random internet lottery of googule, I would like to congratulate you because you have won! Who would have thought!

In order to collect your reward, we require a 1.000 USD deposit to be made in bitcoins to the address located in my signature.

Rest assured, this money is ment only for the UPS transportation costs that are required in order to collect your reward. We do, however, take no responsability in case your reward is lost in transit. Please get back to me as soon as you read this, because this offer is only valid for the next 24 hours after which another random lucky contestant will be selected.

Thank you very much for playing and I would once again like to congratulate you!

That's nice. I always get like 50 bytes and then I BJ them up to 1000 or so and then spend them on 100 byte spins on the slots. As you may see on my byte count, it's not the best tactic.

I would say the only thing up there with money and pussy is family because you can work as a team to help each other and if you have no family friends are a close second.

You into technical analysis?

It can get pretty in depth. I don't know if it is statistically proven to be successful though, I don't really know. There are many people who claim to have methods that work, etc but the fact is I think statistically most people end up losing money day trading. Even experienced day traders.

I like fundamental analysis when it comes to buying long term. That is what someone like Warren Buffet does.

Well the buyins always will be different you'd probably need atleast 100 chips to join etc, but the actual "chip" amounts you can bet would be pretty fixed like 5 bytes, 10 bytes or 25 bytes and multiple of these bets.

$100 an hour. Spend anywhere from 25 to 40 hours a week working. It seems like our situations are reversed. The more I make the less I have to pay somehow. I'm telling you my accountant is a magician. I should probably hear him out on how he managed to get that done. Usually the trick is to pay more than what the government is asking. In essence, at the end of the year it's almost like a savings account. Except it's bad because you get no interest rates on it. That money was always yours in the first place.

Well I played it wisely. The first step would be to visit a doctor. You can use two excuses to get them prescribed, depending on where you're from. The first would be nerves. You can't live properly anymore. You can't get out of bed without feeling like death is on your doorstep. Tell them you sweat a lot whenever you're out in public and describe some of the more common symptoms listed on the wikipedia page of panic disorders. Never ask for xanax or any benzo by name. If the doctor doesn't prescribe it, simply go to the next one.

Another way to do it would be to explain how you can't sleep at night although that reason is more likely not gonna get you what you want. Sometimes it does, but doctors are trying to stay away from benzo's for this reason.

Anyway, once you've found your doctor who seems to trust you, visit him each month and explain how it's helping but you ran out before the appointment date. At some point this doctor will be likely to prescribe larger doses to you.

If he stops, start the circle anew. Also don't be an idiot and take them all at once. Try to go days without them, and bam. You're golden after a couple of months. In total; this would probably cost you about 60-100 USD if you have proper health insurance and you are 100% certain that you're not getting cut shit.

I agree. The issue is so complex that sometimes it makes a man wonder why they even exist in the first place. But even with the hooker parties and all of that crap, they still offer some people a bit of help and that is better than nothing at all. Especially if it's really needed. I used to donate a lot of my time to habitat for humanity and they had to be the most greedy with customer "interest" They didn't build a house for YEARS but still took in peoples freebies and sold it for profit and the only person who'd get paid is the manager or site supervisor and they'd get fired after a year so they wouldn't get a raise. Such a self centered company I gave up all hope after that.

That's the kind of thing you read when you want to lose all hope for humanity. I know it's a meme thing to say, but still. This is what gives charity such a bad name. Not all of them are like that of course, but there are just so many stories like yours floating around that it's not funny anymore. Like you said, just cut the middle man.

It's especially honest coming from you, I mean, you freaking donated your time to them, and then you see that shit? I'd lose my mind honestly.

That's exactly why this place is awesome. People like you, people willing to do something for this place. A tight and friendly community for the most part. Hence staff deserves a cut of the money because they are responsible for the general aura around here. Not to mention that staff are doing things without getting paid, at least that's what one of them told me. I'm not gonna disclose who it was, but they are honest working people who deserve a lot of praise and respect.

In all honesty I think the administrators here would even benefit from a meet-up like that. Get the word out on the streets.

Yeah the staff do deserve it & I know about some of them not being paid but still contribute a ton of time here and yes I'm all down for meet ups as long as nobody decides to be an asshole all is

An application you say? Well now you have my attention. Do you need any code reviews done? I'd be up for it, free of charge. Your ideas won't be stolen. I earn enough to keep myself going just fine without stealing ideas, scamming and/or selling ebooks ?

Not currently it's probably only 60 lines of code from being completed mostly I'm worrying about obfustication etc but I think I can get it done once I figure out the rest of the rest of the logic for it. Most lines I need added are simple file output input and somethings like running in background for afk etc. and multithreading.

That's true, I really don't feel we are spamming anything. If Omni had a problem with this particular contest or the way things are playing out he has every right and power to do something about it. Believe me, he would have done something about it if it bothered him.

He is very active and literally increased the post count for this thread. He never said there was any rules for this thread and neither did the OP.

That is my thought on the matter.

I enter quite a lot of car raffles/money raffles in my country (UK) not sure if it's a big thing anywhere else, a lot of people/companies sell 1500-4000 tickets for a really nice car at like £10-25 per ticket and the number which wins gets the car for the price of the ticket. At least 50% of the time, it's always someone who wins which only has 1 entry, baring in mind some people buy 10-15 tickets.

Oh no, someone asked. Guess it's time to embarrass myself then. It's because most of the code I see at work uses either Gradle or Maven as a 'build tool' and I'm so out of inspiration these days due to the long working hours that I just though to myself: Hey, John Doe, why not combine those two together to make the most retarded name in the history of nicknames ever? Then I went ahead and registered the freaking domain name in my signature as well because I have no life other than work.

Yeah but it's hard to keep going and staying on top of your game when it comes to creative outlets like movies and writing and directing/creating. Having 3 amazing series one after another is gonna be an achievement in and of itself! So, I'm not convinced. I don't doubt his skills at all but it's like listening to an album of a famous artist, they have a couple of really nice hits on the CD but the other ones are just alright, you know?

convinced. I don't doubt his skills at all but it's like listening to an album of a famous artist, they have a couple of really nice hits on the CD but the other ones are just alright, you know?
Honestly I think Vince will have had this planned for some time now, with BCS he already knows exactly where he wants it to go, and I have no doubt it will be amazing.

It's funny how these things change. I think (and this will probably hodl* true for a lot of us) that we'd probably slap our younger selves on the cheeks for the way we acted or presented ourselves.

An even better example, we're both coders. If you were to look back at the code your wrote a year ago, you'd probably think it was written by some kind of beginner. At least that's how I feel most of the time when I look back at my code ? . Things change so fast these days, it's hard to keep up. Never stop learning though ?

Yes and no. Experience is more important. I was just chatting with Xerotic a couple hours back about this as well. I have a co-worker who makes more than I do and has absolutely no degrees. In anything. He makes more than me because he has almost a decade more of experience than I have. But true though, I'll make more than he will in 10 years if I play my cards right.

We shall see I guess, But for him to pick his own "Random" winner on a $1000 Giveaway is sketchy unless this is done on live stream I'm calling this sketchy, wouldnt be hard to pick someone he knows pay the off $100 and he gets all the clout from doing a 1k giveaway.

if you ask me he should pass the BTC to Xero or omni they can hold it and pick the winners that way there is no possible way anyone can accuse him of cheating or picking his own winner etc etc.

I know personally speaking anything over $100 id let Staff hold the cash and pick a winner.

Oh my god nasty dude. I'm sorry hahaha. You literally have to burn your house down (or at least heat the whole house to a certain temperature) to guarantee getting rid of them. You must have just gotten lucky. Was it worth it at all at least? Hahahaha.

No it wasn't worth it and yes I replaced my furniture and debated on just burning everything because I got tired of waking up with bites all over. Trust me I definitely thought about it.

Also had to sleep on the couch I never use because it felt like the only safe zone.

Yeah one time when I was a kid my house got infested by ticks. It was bad, I think one of our dogs had picked them up from a park.

It was a nightmare man. So, I've dealt with that. There was also bed bugs at this one place I was at but they dealt with them.

Yeah I've never had any bad times with ticks fortunately maybe got a few from being in the woods but not more than a dozen in my memory.

Always would get one or 2 from deer hunting.

Well I didn't notice all the little dots on the walls cause I was young and they are good at hiding their legs by tucking them in.

Once we started bug bombing they seeked refuge in the curtains/light switches.

It was whack af.

Vanilla sent me $500 (0.05208855 BTC) to hold as part of the funds for the winner. Hopefully BTC value goes up but I'm sure that the winner will get current value of $1000 BTC at the time of drawing.

We're looking into the best options now for fairly choosing a winner.

I can't. It's not often I come up with content for my blog so when I have content, I almost NEED to post it on my site. When I have the funds to outsource or time to create more, I'll probably make time to make several blog posts here. For now, it's definitely not on my to do list.

I bet Xerotic would be the only one who wouldn't post/join in on the fun because he's too modest. Then there's the other staff members. Most of them would probably all be like: "I hope other staff member x wins" and "staff member y really deserves it more than I do so I'm just posting for him" and "Please give it to staff member x because he's the one that's making my life easy".

Yeah computers have limited storage so they max out at a certain number far smaller than that. I learned the number in computer science class today but don't remember now

Yeah computers have limited storage so they max out at a certain number far smaller than that. I learned the number in computer science class today but don't remember now

There really isn't much need for numbers bigger than the mind can even comprehend, at least for general purposing.
Yeah it's kinda irrelevant like what can we do with a number that big? I don't see the practicality.

No mate if anything it gets worse as the level goes higher ..

25 minute bans are awful even worse when you get 3 in a row and i expect that to be 4 and so on with each level increase that's what i'm finding anyway

Good luck to everyone on this thread ?

Yep and also the more post's people make (even myself with like 860 posts) everyones odds are slowly going down and the number for a win is so stretched it could really be anyone.

I scoped out all the parts I wanted and got them for the cheapz on eBay, even found a high end motherboard labeled “defect” that I repaired really easily (North bridge pins were a little bent) got it for $20 but it was like $1-200 new

Anyway, got all parts cheap and ended up getting a $1500 pc for under $400

Its actually nice that you can calm down with one / two beers. One really makes me nervous, two doesn't change anything. 4th one starts to calm me down and I am good after the 5th one. Only do so very occasionally though Pretty sure that is the qualifications to drinking problem in a doctors office. The question is do you havd more than x number of drinks a day?

If you are at 5 clinically I believe that is considered alcoholic. I think there are different levels if alcoholism though.

I am not dependent on alcohol and neither do I crave or am I preoccupied with it. Its just that whenever I have to drink, I can't settle down with less. I am fine with going with no alcohol and smoking for straight two-three weeks, but when I do, might be to calm myself down, drown down my sorrows, relax myself, one -two beers do me no good so I require more of it like at least 4-5 beers. Or a little less than a pint of whiskey makes me feel good. Nothing less than that.

What's the post amount limit for a thread by the way? Is it 5,000?
Omni put a limit? MyBB didn't have one last I checked. They did give you the option to limit members though.

I've been watching the news and frowning, they are using the national hurricane centers charts and it's fed information and predicted through algorithms. So yeah I don't think they are getting the prediction right and there's been times there algorithm has been wrong.

Good thing is the storm is moving at 1mph.

I feel like it might do what Hurricane Andrew did in the 90s. They assumed it was going to turn, up until last minute where it headed straight for Miami.

Yeah here's a quote from today on the site. Take note on the last 2 lines.

Code Steering currents have weakened, and Dorian has almost come to a standstill over eastern Grand Bahama Island, with an initial motion of 270/1 kt. The mid-tropospheric high to the north of the hurricane that had been steering Dorian westward has collapsed.
Global models indicate that, in a couple of days, a weakness in the ridge will develop along 75W-80W. This would likely cause Dorian to move northwestward to northward toward and through this weakness.
Later in the forecast period, the system is expected to accelerate northeastward on the southern side of a broad mid-tropospheric trough. The official track forecast is very close to the previous one and to the corrected dynamical model consensus, HCCA. Although the official forecast does not show Dorian making landfall along the Florida east coast, it is still possible for the hurricane to deviate from this forecast, and move very near or over the coast.
Users are reminded not to focus on the exact forecast track.

move northwestward to northward toward and through this weakness.
Later in the forecast period, the system is expected to accelerate northeastward on the southern side of a broad mid-tropospheric trough. The official track forecast is very close to the previous one and to the corrected dynamical model consensus, HCCA. Although the official forecast does not show Dorian making landfall along the Florida east coast, it is still possible for the hurricane to deviate from this forecast, and move very near or over the coast.
Users are reminded not to focus on the exact forecast track.
Crap. Yea I remember hearing something that it’s still always a 30-40% chance that it will not follow the cone (projected path)

Yeah given it they say there model is not perfect and also uses data from it's "historical errors" lul Code The timing graphics are created using the same Monte Carlo wind speed probability model that is currently used to determine the risk of tropical-storm- and hurricane-force winds at individual locations – a model in which 1000 plausible scenarios are constructed using the official NHC tropical cyclone forecast and its historical errors. Being customer support for my program because people are idiots.

Also fixing a feature because it's slow but there's the option to not use it but people don't care.
They want it fixed now.
You can scrape/check proxies from my program or you can use your own list.
I guess using your own list is too hard and have to complain because something so small is "breaking" the program.

I usually smoke from my bubbler. If not just a bowl or a bong. I love blunts and joints, I'm just always too lazy to roll them. So I never got too good at it haha.

I love carts. I just get used to them quickly. So I switch it up between both.

To be fair, WordPress does a great job fixing most vulnerabilities in their code. The problem now-a-days lies in their plugin repository. Some developers create plugins only for them to be riddled with adware later on after they get a lot of installs or simply aren't coded that well and allow remote code execution etc.

So it's pretty safe to use if you're not downloading a ton of plugins?

A hell of a lot safer than Drupal in my opinion. But everything is vulnerable to something. There's always an exploit for something somewhere waiting to happen. Not even a CPU is exploit-safe ?

I've been successful at sales jobs but I recently went back to school to become a software engineer.

For work I'm actually going for a typing job at my school that will pay $15-20 an hour part time. It will be a nice job for a student.

Step down from what I used to make but I expect to make more as a software engineer. If not maybe SAAS sales.

Yeah that is crazy to lose 80k+ bytes. I don't think I would gamble 100k because the odds of losing are so much greater at that point. I'd probably sell and start over again.

Dropping some Niiahu facts now because I know people don't know this side of Hawaii...

Located a scant 17 miles off the coast of Kauai, Niihau may be geographically near, but it’s a world apart. Despite having a number of permanent residents, the island has no roads, no cars, no stores, no restaurants, no internet, no electricity, and no indoor plumbing. Even though people do live there year round, they have very little contact with the outside world.

I bought a scratcher and it did NOT pay off hahah.

I mean, I could have tried to bank up on some conservative black jack to buy 2 scratchers but naaahhh. I feel like if I am going to get lucky I'm going to get lucky.

If not, then oh well I guess.

Sell some of your bytes now, at least enough so you'll be able to upgrade to ub3r when you meet the requirements.

Not expunged that only happens for juveniles but a pardon where the court forgives me for my crimes pretty much if I keep doing good.

Expungement is a automatic process when you turn 18
A pardon I have to stand infront of a judge and prove I'm a different person

Ah man, yeah violent charges are no joke. I always cooperated but kept my mouth shut, didn't carry a gun on me or anything dumb.
I think that is why I get off is just because I don't say anything. I refuse to talk if I am getting arrested, prove it. I have nothing to say to the arresting officer. I'll let the prosecutor try to flesh out what happened when there is 1000's of other cases pending where the dumbasses told them everything.

I was on the run and was having a terrible time dealing with it, I had some grand theift charges and when the cops found me man I wasn't going down which put me in some shit.

It's been 5 years, most people if they want all their rights granted back, like possessing a firearm and shit usually get approved after 10 years for a full pardon which i'm going for. But yeah usual pardon is around 6-8 and here in florida you can't be denied a job more than 7 years after your last arrest.

I did construction I worked as a foreman for around 8 months was bringing in around 1k a week almost, then I started getting bad heat exhaustion and had a heat stroke (since it's hot af in florida) and quit because I was fucked up from it for a little.

I got a guy I'm meeting friday about a fencing job but I doubt I'm gonna be able to keep it when the summer comes around next year if the heat is bad only reason I'm applying now is because summer ends soon and it rains all the time now.

I can't use a retainer because it's not for keeping you from grinding because you can still fully close your mouth. I have a sleep guard, you form it in hot water and mold it to your teeth but the damn thing realigns my jaw where my teeth are out of place and can't close my mouth or chew when I wake up for up to a hour. I can't wear it all the time because it can permanently realign my jaw and I'll literally never be able to chew or close my mouth fully.

So if its molded from your teeth why is realigning them?

(Sep 5, 2019 01:15 AM)Crimin4L Wrote: [CITE] So if its molded from your teeth why is realigning them?

Because it only prevents the damage from grinding but you can misalign your jaw when you are grinding.

Now when you grind you got like 1/2 extra inch of soft rubber in your mouth and your teeth like upper set and lower set never touch so it can adjust your mouth structure if you sleep long and your mouth never can close fully plus it extends your jaw all night long because the new distance so you wake up with killer jaw pain.

It was definitely prescribed to me for anxiety. Before Xanax.

It's funny because everything I'm doing now to combat anxiety/depression is actually working. Compared to the pills that just made it worse in the long run.

I would argue they all got a bad batch from a black market supplier or a shady vapestore owner or something. People have been vaping for years and suddenly there is just a pocket of people geographically effected?

Thanks I've only posted here 3 times. Kinda wish I posted more to increase my chances lol.

Do you know when the winner will be drawn?

BUsHIDO - September 7, 2019, 6:33 am

1 sad thing that i just discover. If the owner of the thread use random org the last 1000 posts wont count. The winner will be 90% from 4k till 6k post.
What i mean. I go to random org i place 1 / 7000 and press generate. The result variations was 90% from 4k till 6k. (dont press generate for second time) just close the tab and open new tab and go to random org. Do the same and you will notice this. Sad but true.

To ensure fairness. It would be quite easy to host such contest and just have a mate win it and pay him $50 or so. Therefore Omni picks the winner.

Just tried 10 times with 10 different tabs and I actually got 7 of them between ~700 - ~2000 so idk what you're on about.

It's random.org. It wouldn't make sense if it hits between a certain range on purpose. It's random man.

I play roulette daily. Sometimes it hits black 12 times in a row. It's 48,9 or something chance of hitting red so naturally it would hit red half of the times. It's super random, like random.org. Sometimes things happens, randomly.

I don't think it's ever truly random but it's definitely not rigged in that way.

Of course it's random. It's an algorithm that choose a number between a range of numbers. Making it not random would be harder than making it random. And why would they want to do that. They don't get anything out of it lol.

Well his odds are not based on total post's. Only post's that count, take int for example, if he's factoring in ints posts in calculating his odds he's doing it wrong.

Int can't be a winner so there's no odds for int or point in factoring his in.
