How do I really get rid of these scars. It have been there for quite a few times but I am just wondering if anyone had same thing and make this sccars go away. I have read lots stuff about "How to get rid of acne scars" blah blah but I guess there is no specific answer to it. I have been watching my face 2 times a day and those steps of "How to get ride of the acne scars" and nothing works really.

Can someone point my right product to get these scars off. I saw lots of ads on these scars removal products on facebook and i feel that they all BS. I have heard about salicylic acid but does it really work?.

Thanks in advance.

You can't get rid of scars, they don't go back to natural skin. They can lighten up back to your skin color but it's still not your skin skin it's still scar tissue.

Got to wait it out, and if your popping pimples w.e and are getting scars it's probably best to stop if you don't want scars.

You will never get actually rid of em. You can get various of treatments to make them less noticable doe like laser. If you still get pimples doe use accutane asap and after some months try to treat the scars. Dont wait cuz it will get worse.

I still have some acne scars on my shoulders, they certainly get better over time but it's something that you have to live with.
