

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Remove Requests for hacking section

FCC - August 29, 2019, 7:04 pm

I think the request for hacking section should be removed because it always consists of low quality threads to which no one even replies a serious answer to. I don't think the section benefits for the forum or anyone in any way.

I cry blood - August 29, 2019, 7:35 pm

Eventually someone will make a request somewhere else on HF. If there's no section for requests, the request will be placed in another board. So not only will there be a potential for the request itself to be LQ, but it will muck up space for other legitimate threads. Just a thought. I feel kind of similar. It doesn't seem to me like there's a whole ton of true productivity coming from there, but regardless it seems like a necessary thing to have.

FCC - August 29, 2019, 8:08 pm

(Aug 29, 2019 07:35 PM)I cry blood Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Eventually someone will make a request somewhere else on HF. If there's no section for requests, the request will be placed in another board. So not only will there be a potential for the request itself to be LQ, but it will muck up space for other legitimate threads. Just a thought. I feel kind of similar. It doesn't seem to me like there's a whole ton of true productivity coming from there, but regardless it seems like a necessary thing to have.

Yeah I see your point and I agree with you somewhat. It just sucks to have such a lq section that doesn't really help anyone. But then again that's like 60 percent of the entire forum so _(?)_/_

Skorp - August 29, 2019, 11:46 pm

Suggested and denied already.

Omniscient Wrote:It's there to be a low-quality area and will always be there.

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4773681>