Thread: Odd Request \(World of Warcraft + Slight SQL + EZ Commands\)

1mmortal1ty - August 30, 2019, 6:17 am

Hello. I am basically looking for someone who has experience building on private servers and are well versed with content creation like making enjoyable quests and events and stuff of this nature. This is a 3.3.5a server with some of the most talented Developers in the community leading the project, however they are quite busy IRL and busy coding and working within the core and MySQL.

It is quite honestly something that shouldn't take long at all and I will go over the specifics should you be interested. Anyone with great grammar, prior World of Warcraft experience, WoW Commands, that are provided to you in-game for building, and a vast imagination should take up this offer.

This is also a paid request. Our team has sections we need done on a spreadsheet and your name will be added to the ones we need done. Once you complete this, you will be paid based off of what it says on the tile. After each project is done, you will receive $30. Each project will take approximately 1 hour. There are 5 in total for 5 people! Or alternatively for a select few people who know about World of Warcraft and would like to try something new or for people who are pros with WoW Emulation and just need the money.

My discord is here. I'll be waiting!
