

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Clubs...

b2plane - August 31, 2019, 3:15 pm

.....im just sitting out here in my backyard with my laptop, spending thousands of hours reading and watching coding tutorials, preparing to start coding the upcoming project etc and i hear a loud music from the far sight. seems like some festival or a disco club. i cant even tell where does it come from but it's so loud and clearly very far away.

then i went to instagram and saw how everyone is at parties. everyone travels somewhere. everyone has a car. i have nothing of those things. i am nearly broke and poor which is why i grind all night with this stuff...

i saw people who go to the clubs on instagram stories. after starring at those dumb stories, a question came to my mind and that is.... how fucking rich are these people? are these average people going to the parties actually very rich or am i very poor? because you'd have to spend so much money on dumb shit by drinking alcohol and God knows what else you do and what do you get in return? NOTHING. i dont get the mentality of those people who go to a party to get drunk, spend money and energy and leave, how do you feel fulfilled after that? why do you party? WHAT DO YOU CELEBRATE? WHAT SUCCESS DO YOU CELEBRATE BY PARTYING IF YOU ARE LOSING MONEY? like what are your thoughts about this, HF?...

top 3 richest people on the planet:

- 1) people that go to the clubs
- 2) apple users
- 3) jeff bezos

Blogger - September 9, 2019, 1:37 am

You think people that go to the clubs are rich? lol They just rather go out instead of buying groceries, paying certain bills, etc. #priorities

Fortunate - September 9, 2019, 8:14 am

How old are you? Have you been to any clubs?

You go to the club to have fun, relax and spend quality time with friends. Most of us go to jobs and we can afford to spend $50 every other week for entertainment.

Best of luck with your grinding though, maybe you can afford a couple white russians and jam it out in a nightclub one day ?