

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: [\[Glitch\] Close other people's threads](#)

S????i - September 1, 2019, 3:21 pm

Not sure where to report so decided to put it here...

<https://hackforums.net/member.php?action=profile&uid=4254076>

This user created a thread titled: Buzo - FollowBot SERVICE // TWITCH 20k+ FOLLOWERS (<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=6004122>)

I noticed they were spamming to get 25 posts so I reported them and their thread was deleted. As I was the second person to make a comment on the thread above, the threads ownership transferred to me and I now have the ability to close the thread;

<http://prntscr.com/p0hcga>

I will now close the thread:

<http://prntscr.com/p0hcmn>

As you can see, thread ownership has now transferred to me as the staff member removed the original thread however as I was next in line in the comments, it transferred to me.

I know it's incredibly a situational glitch, but thought it'd be cool to report it here anyways ;D
omni give reward pls ty

SoulZeh - September 1, 2019, 3:22 pm

Yea this is already known, like you said it happens when the ownership is transferred over to the second person who commented on the thread.

S????i - September 1, 2019, 3:23 pm

(Sep 1, 2019 03:22 PM)SoulZeh Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yea this is already known, like you said it happens when the ownership is transferred over to the second person who commented on the thread.
damn rip thought i'd be the first to have found this, big sad times

webdev77 - September 1, 2019, 3:24 pm

This is a known "glitch" but really a myBB issue of how deleting or moving posts works. Thanks for closing the thread.

Omniscient - September 1, 2019, 3:39 pm

Actually it's a Staff error for junking first post instead of junking the whole thread.