Thread: Any Spanish people here to help me out?

Goat - September 2, 2019, 8:58 am

Sup fellas, I'm on vacation in Mallorca and I'd like to send some stuff from here to Sweden with fedex or DHL. The thing is I can't find how to send the package and I'd like some help if someone is kind enough.

Cheers,
Goat

How big is your package?

Not big at all, I would say 1-2kg at most. 30x30cm is enough.

Do you have any DHL service points near you?

If you take the package with you to an DHL service point they can help you filling out the papers to ship it.

For this small package DHL will do the work, just go there tell them to where you want to ship and they will do the rest.

Then you need to book online, most likely you will have to call them and ask if they can pick up the package.

I found a DHL service point in Manacor, Palma, Alcúdia

Is there really no points near you? There is no cheap busses that goes to a city that have one? I feel like going to a DHL service point will be simpler than calling them if you don't speak Spanish
