Thread: Thread Riding

DNA - September 2, 2019, 9:18 pm

The other day I posted a thread about "How often do you get your hair cut"

At the end of it when I closed that thread, it had 4 pages and another thread of a similar nature was posted.

At first I couldn't contain myself and was laughing for a good 10 minutes but now I'm thinking, what the actual hell?

I make a thread about the frequency of a hair cut and I get 46 replies and 321 views on it? And a someone creates a similar thread?

I would say this doesn't seem normal but this is the internet after all, is everyone just riding threads for post count?

I just can't fathom how something so stupid attracted so much attention, in the time that it did.

In over 60 threads and 1000 posts, you have been the only one who has been lame enough to use that pun, I award you no points and may god have mercy on your soul.

Slight Billy Elliot reference there aha

Oh right I forgot about the reduced lounge head for a minute

It's like a repost from Reddit, but just Hack Forums' version of it.
It's fairly common on Reddit, don't know how often it happens here.

At first it was funny, now not so much. I see duplicate thread after duplicate thread and it's kind of irritating.

I understand the reddit thing, for Karma and all that jazz but I just don't understand the purpose of doing it on HackForums..

I mean, could pay $7 per 1k or whatever the going price is

And Loungehead isn't that hard really, 500/30 is roughly 17 posts per day.

I was lucky because I already had 94% (42% when it halved), so I had the first Loungehead this year.

Nice and I was just kidding.

I don't know why people would duplicate other's threads. That is kind of retarded.

not sure how, it's 2 mill pop and im on the mixed part of the city not the ghetto mixed part, this is like a multi cultural secondary city center

not a sigle barber shop goes bankrupt

i seen butchers, grocery shops open and close, never seen a barbershop fail they are right next to ech other too, like 3 in a row and such maybe they are the money laundering empire =))
