Since my break up, I've been getting back into taking pictures to get my mind off things, etc so thought I'd share with you guys! A lot more to come as I'm getting back into it.

All pictures were taken in Southern California.

I currently use a Sony A6000, and I have to say... the little thing packs a punch!

Wow! Then shots look amazing, do you enhance your photos or that is straight from the camera?

Nope, I wish! I edit them in Adobe Lightroom.

Oh okay, yea lighting looks amazing. I had to ask cause if that camera was producing images like that then I might've had to make a purchase xD

Woah, I really like your content. My Canon Rebel T5i is pretty much collecting dust now...

This section is probably more fitting. Photography

I like that camera though. Clean and crisp. I also like the exposure used.

True, thanks for that.

The Sony A6000 is tough to use with low-light, so getting a clear pic at night is lucky lol.

The pictures themselves are really nice. Think you could do better editing on the night ones towards the bottom, but still good stuff.
