

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: What brought you to HF in the first place?

webdev77 - September 8, 2019, 9:38 am

A short time ago I came across HF via search engine results when trying to satisfy my curiosity on web security. Similar to my favorite review on steam in which someone with several thousand hours in a game says "It's alright I guess", I've been here for some time now and still enjoy being here.

What made you decide to join in the first place?

Linux X - September 8, 2019, 9:41 am

Just the think is it possible this forum to be hacked. Also the GFX Seciton.

DNA - September 8, 2019, 9:43 am

Cheap marketing and social media services (i.e. facebook, i.g. and twitter likes/follows)

Parks - September 8, 2019, 9:45 am

Was looking for how to hack minecraft accounts crazy to where it took me now. ?

Fortunate - September 8, 2019, 9:45 am

My friend showed me the forum after talking about Anonymous back in like 2014 or something. I joined in early 2016 though after he told me he was selling XBOX live codes here.

SoulZeh - September 8, 2019, 9:46 am

For me it started when I was younger, I ended up getting hacked by a R.A.T and I was so amazed by it and wanted to learn how to, so I found this place and then I fell in love with the coding section.

Prawnster - September 8, 2019, 9:48 am just googling for random hacking shit when i was younger i think, and then joined start of 2016 lmao

Linux X - September 8, 2019, 9:49 am

(Sep 8, 2019 09:48 AM)Mazl Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) just googling for random hacking Clay Davis when i was younger i think, and then joined start of 2016 lmao

Clay Davis is proud of you. ?

Lindros - September 8, 2019, 9:54 am

I used to go on here when I was younger in like 2011 and all the stuff made 0 sense to me.

It was like listenting to Wizards talk in a foreign language. Back then I wasn't active but I was into RS private servers.

Mix - September 8, 2019, 9:56 am

For me I was told when I first joined HF that the graphics section was really active and it was 2014 and it was, I wanted to sell my work here but never got around to it so I made a few Guides on how to use photoshop, they went down great! and so I stayed here to do that. I never sold any gfx work but I do make some here and there to this day.

Ivex - September 8, 2019, 9:57 am

Honestly, I used to be active on a lot of webmaster sites and I probably saw HF on a list of forums that have a website promotion section.

Now it's the only forum I'm active on!

One - September 8, 2019, 10:01 am

Joined hackforums because i wanted to gain more knowledge on pentesting

Popdog - September 8, 2019, 10:03 am

Like 90% of other users I came here because I wanted to "hack" into someones account lmao.

Sugawara - September 8, 2019, 10:19 am

One of my online friends recommended this place.

At that point of time, I was fascinated by keyloggers and RATs, which made me stay here.

Phorus - September 8, 2019, 10:25 am

Joined looking for more insight on crypto and technology in general. I've come to learn in the past few days that it's a very interesting place.

Brendan - September 8, 2019, 10:39 am

I wanted to make better Minecraft mods and improve my programming skill.

I learned how to make better mods but I improved my programming somewhere else, lol.

M1L3NK0 - September 8, 2019, 10:41 am

I was young and wanted to know good h4ck3r vpns and learn how to DDoS. Then the forum I used daily shut down, it was a Minecraft griefing forum and the Minecraft section was very active when I came here. Everything else interested me so I stuck around

Vanilla - September 8, 2019, 10:42 am

I have no recollection of what brought me here but whatever reason, I am glad to be here.

tux1 - September 8, 2019, 10:44 am

Years ago I used to hang around on this forum called crazycoderz which was kind of like a warez forum but they also used to do hack tools. Anyway it closed down and I really wanted to learn more about hacking and so I started trying to find a new forum. I went on google one day and type in "hack forums" and this one was the first result. So I started browsing the forum for a while and back then you could search without registering so I spent about a year just downloading and reading stuff then they changed the permissions so I created an account and never looked back :).

Prawnster - September 8, 2019, 12:53 pm

(Sep 8, 2019 09:49 AM)Graphic Pleasure Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Clay Davis is proud of you. ?
lmao i always forget about that stupid cu?t censoring stuff

Mr. Robot - September 8, 2019, 1:06 pm

Was looking to fix some issues with WPS and a user here assisted me. Stuck around and now I guess most people know who I am.

Now anyone searching for hacking related forums after watching mr robot will come here.

:)

Juicy - September 8, 2019, 1:07 pm

Played xbox 360 with some guy named chandler or something, he told me to join this site to find

cheap xbox live xD

the start of an era

Anima - September 8, 2019, 1:08 pm

The GFX section was the original reason i joined (I mean apart from the fact my friend said hey you should join this forum)

Dead Presidents - September 8, 2019, 2:05 pm

I was interested in hacking as a kid. Now i just stay for the community and layout.

crixus - September 8, 2019, 2:07 pm

I purchase security for my bitcoin casino crocozino.io few years ago
what a nostalgia
I miss crocozino ?

emotionull - September 8, 2019, 2:12 pm

I think it was either something to do with runescape or running a forum back in like 2012.

Xphile - September 8, 2019, 2:14 pm

I wanted to learn more about cyber security, initially with childish malice.
Now I just lurk and wish I was decent at GFX so I could make some money.

Dead Presidents - September 8, 2019, 2:16 pm

(Sep 8, 2019 09:56 AM)Mix Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) For me I was told when I first joined HF that the graphics section was really active and it was 2014 and it was, I wanted to sell my work here but never got around to it so I made a few Guides on how to use photoshop, they went down great! and so I stayed here to do that. I never sold any gfx work but I do make some here and there to this day.
Do you have a link to those guides? I have been trying to find some good tutorials.

Yin Yang - September 8, 2019, 2:18 pm

I started off first on halostrike as I was interested in team standbys in H2. I got tired of playing legit and getting cheated on when you hit lvl 40+. It then gradually got into modding. Then it got into host booting because of DONTCARE. He was a known booter (the first that I know of). Then halostrike got shortly shut down and I was still interested in bots and kicking people offline and it eventually lead me to here in 2010. I also got into RATs and found poisonivy (throwback).

Sigma - September 8, 2019, 3:03 pm

I first came to Hackforums to learn more about RAT's.

AYMG - September 8, 2019, 3:21 pm

A friend recommended me HF, he said that the community was very good and he was right.

Mix - September 8, 2019, 3:25 pm

(Sep 8, 2019 02:16 PM)Dead Presidents Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Do you have a link to those guides? I have been trying to find some good tutorials.

Just go to my threads and go to the start and you will find a few. I recently updated one and got it on the blogs page too.

Gogeta - September 8, 2019, 3:34 pm

Used to be another forum that was closed down a couple months ago and I wanted to go back to the forums scene.

Slim - September 8, 2019, 3:48 pm

When I was 12 or so I searched for a hacking forum and found HF. It was surprisingly quality and I got sucked into the community and forum culture. It was fun to kinda integrate with the community over the course of about a year. It was a fun time

Moxxi - September 8, 2019, 4:32 pm

im pretty sure i joined to buy some skid hacker tool because i thought thats all hacking was then eventually i learned i was mistaken lol

Crypt - September 8, 2019, 4:37 pm

I wanted to learn more about RAT's and how malware worked. I heard about HF on Youtube.

Wafflemonger - September 8, 2019, 4:53 pm

The first time I ever visited HF was when I was looking up on Google guides about phishing (and how to make them). I found a post by Crow (RIP) and followed it successfully hahaha.

Since then, I joined The Alliance (TA), but outside of that, I basically just lurked a lot.

Xen - September 8, 2019, 5:02 pm

A friend invited me to join this forum. I started looking into the webmaster world and I came back to enjoy the people.

Rigel - September 8, 2019, 5:07 pm

Found it off Google and thought it was interesting so I signed up!

A Powerade - September 8, 2019, 5:08 pm

I came here trying to find someone to hack a Minecraft server that banned me. Never thought I would stick around afterwards though lmao.

Pluxo - September 8, 2019, 5:26 pm

Back when I very first joined I was big into SQL injecting, shells, and Habbo. I ended up joining to learn and download some shells. Moved on from that and now I just hang around the lounge along with some other sections. Took a break for a couple of years and here I am again.

CORRYL - September 8, 2019, 5:51 pm

I'm network engineer, was searching for RAT that can monitoring users network with details infos needed. From that, Its direct me to HF.

ideaatounotesutowan - September 8, 2019, 6:20 pm

(Sep 8, 2019 09:38 AM)webdev77 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) A short time ago I came across HF via search engine results when trying to satisfy my curiosity on web security. Similar to my favorite review on steam in which someone with several thousand hours in a game says "It's alright I guess", I've been here for some time now and still enjoy being here.

What made you decide to join in the first place?

Spokeo and looking for a tutorial how to get an account on Spokeo (or BeenVerif as alt) without using your real credentials (e.g fakes or virtual cc/deb cards, fake zips, etc) brought me here as an urgent immediate reason on June of 2019.

Though it made feel disappointed after attempts on getting this fugging sh-i-t to work sadly; i literally decided to join here for a better tiring place for help also.

One problem i don't about HF and their answers to me; Money and Financial b.s - that mentally harassed me by that. : (

So i decide to quit in future and reject questions/replies (reply backs) for money and jobs or something by people on there during guilty to run away. V_V'

Zeus - September 8, 2019, 7:06 pm

I joined HF 10 years ago when i was a kid, i got hacked on runescape and wanted to learn more about it. The person that hacked me on a runescape private server taught me alot and then gave all my stuff back as-well!

End of the day,
Not everyone is evil!

SneakyHF - September 9, 2019, 1:06 am

Honestly, I can't even remember what started it all. But for sure the nowadays it's the marketplace that makes me come back checking now and then. Gotta see if there's any new good products! ;)

luke - September 9, 2019, 1:15 am

I think for some leaked GMOD Addons.

Yurizon - September 9, 2019, 2:28 am

I got HF from searching about hacking tutorials, but now stuck happy here.

Krepto - September 9, 2019, 2:30 am

A friend of mine was heavily into coding and showed me this site. I just enjoyed the graphics tutorials haha.

Meterpreter - September 9, 2019, 2:34 am

Wanted to learning hacking.

There's literally a thread of mine from years ago asking how to use LOIC to DDoS someone.

Vyrkfrir - September 9, 2019, 3:04 am

Back in the old days when i joined, I ran my own mildly successful runescape black market and got into HF for the free coding tutorials as well as the marketplace.

So many good memories

Headspace - September 9, 2019, 4:05 am

Back in the day when MW2 Challenge Lobbies were popular and modding Xbox 360 gamesaves were all the hoot, I was apart of (now defunct) Game-Tuts. Hack/Modding worked hand-in-hand and now here I remain.

Sleep - September 9, 2019, 4:21 am

A mate recommended HF to me. Been here on/off since then

Cooligan - September 9, 2019, 4:24 am

I actually answered this years ago for my HF WIKI page interview.

"Cooligan first learned of Hack Forums through a friend of his on Xbox 360, namely when his friend began talking about buying Netflix accounts for $0.20 a piece."

That is indeed why I originally joined. After that I just loved the community and the forum itself so I stayed.

Still here today and I can't see myself leaving for any reason. <3

Pyro - September 9, 2019, 4:26 am my brother told me about it

CyberError - September 9, 2019, 4:29 am i used to search a lot about hacking realted things and always end up being here from search engine , so yeh am here learned alot alot from hackforum alone

OBAMASELF - September 9, 2019, 4:33 am

I just love the community really.

Silent Uprising - September 9, 2019, 6:21 am

(Sep 9, 2019 03:04 AM)Kotadiatu Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Back in the old days when i joined, I ran my own mildly successful runescape black market and got into HF for the free coding tutorials as well as the marketplace.

So many good memories

Haha RuneScape is what started me getting into this aswell. Ahh good old RuneScape :))

Doctor. - September 9, 2019, 6:24 am

I found out from a youtube video related to RuneScape about the dude who created "Trap Nation" and he had early beginnings from HF

Vyrkfrir - September 9, 2019, 6:56 am

I know of so many people that came to this forum specifically looking for phishing/RAT tools to git dem dat sweet sweet victim RS accounts.

Xerotic - September 9, 2019, 8:05 am

I was interested in Flash game hacking and the coding with Batch and VBScript. They were my first foray into the programming world when I wanted to toy around with what I could create. That was a decade ago and here I am today still active.