What is this coded in? What are your payment methods? Does it support managed and native files? And I think that your scan image is broken.

Coded in C#, BTC or other cryptos are my payment methods. It supports both . and It's the scan image i got from spyralscanner. That's the most recent scan ?

Nice looking product, I got a couple questions.

1. Why didn't you use NetSeal form and set the border to none? It looks trashy and amateur wit the way you have it set to.
2. Would you please provide runtime scan results? This could just be a dropper and be immediately detected by everything on the market runtime.
3. Where did JokerRAT go?

 1. I'll add do that thanks.
 2. I'll try to get a runtime scan website .
 3. I decided just to make it private. The thread got deleted and I didn't get much attention so I'm just doing this now :)

Have you got jabber? Need to ask few questions

Kevin Mitnick - September 11, 2019, 8:50 am

Answer these simple questions.

1. Is your crypter native or net ?
2. Do your crypter support Native files ?
3. What payment methods do you accept ?
4. Are you interested to advertise your product on other websites ? [If you do i have pretty good offer to get your crypter high traffic and sales.]

I would love to get these all answers in private message since am new member and not able to send you private message.

I've requested a runtime scan since few days. Owner just ignore me. Maybe he have something to hide ?

Claw - September 11, 2019, 7:19 pm

If you can't pay for runtime scanner, i'll scan it.

There isn't something called "good places", scan in a website that customers want in there, for example dyn check, run4me, any runtime scanner, but honestly mate, marketing isn't making 4 products available in a day, focus on one project first, post what customers want, then get to other projects, its just a hint from me, good luck with sales.
regards.
