Thread: Do you shave?

Fortunate - September 9, 2019, 10:07 am

How often do you shave or do you at all?

I personally shave my beard/stubble every other morning. I can't properly grow my beard so I try to keep it nice at least.

It's your call if you need to tell us about your private part shaving. I'm mostly talking about facial hair.

duck - September 9, 2019, 10:16 am

I have this really black thing under my nose, people laugh that im pedo but honestly idk what should i do about that, i should probably shave it already. but it doesnt offend me.

im too lazy, i think it makes me look a bit older but i think it also looks odd not a good thing, idk tbh.

Vitani's Mate - September 9, 2019, 10:26 am

I need a shave, I have a beard and it is getting annoying as fuck.

Also summer is coming up so I better go bald.

Where do you live again? Winter is coming here so It's pretty much perfect for me to not shave.

I live in Australia.

It is now spring here and it is kinda starting to heat up now. lol

Bossk - September 9, 2019, 10:33 am

Used to shave every day then I said fuck it and grew an OK beard

Deal - September 9, 2019, 10:39 am

I have a beard line. Looks awesome tbh. I usually go to the barber. But I've just ordered a straight razor with my name engraved on the blade. Stoked to use it. Am gonna shave daily so I keep that line 100% on fleek.

it looks like the black goes from my nose above my lips and then little bit down the lips, its dark and white but mostly dark odd.

Lindros - September 9, 2019, 11:17 am

I shave everything, not ever single day but I don't like to be hairy. I'd rather have a lil facial hair than pubic hair though.

A + - September 9, 2019, 11:18 am

I trim up about every other day as well. That itchiness is overrated.

Grim - September 9, 2019, 11:41 am i do just because my beard looks terrible when grown.

Slim - September 9, 2019, 11:53 am

Yeee, I shave every 3 days for work.

Pyro - September 9, 2019, 11:57 am i grow beard, i dont trim it, i dont shave it, i just completely let it grow for 2-3 months, then when i cant sleep from it i shave it and i feel like a kid again, which i dont like

Vyrkfrir - September 9, 2019, 12:07 pm

Got a babyface at 25, so I use a beard trimmer to keep a little stubble - actually makes work easier when people don't question your age.

Kinda the same to be honest. When I shave on the regular it leaves a nice scratchy stub, but they never grow thick.

Bitcoins - September 9, 2019, 12:38 pm

I do shave otherwise I end up with stuble or beard.

GersonHdez - September 9, 2019, 1:07 pm

I would as well but barbers are expensive here and probably useless for my situation. It's just worth it doing it at home instead. My friend has a big beard and he would be in debt if he'd visit a local barber shop.

GersonHdez - September 9, 2019, 1:12 pm

That happens. In my case, barbershops are not very expensive and I can go often

Pawnhub - September 9, 2019, 1:12 pm

That's the magic of the Interwebz baby. Would you actually believe that I lost my virginity at 12?

Yes I would because I did have the this experience but before the age of 12.

There is no reason for me to not believe this, it happens more often than you guys think.

Looks like you go to the gym. That explains all the arm shaving, gotta make sure those muscles stand out.

I swear you had hair before, or am I tripping? (Obviously you did but like a year ago)

Even with those everyday shaving was too much for me. That's why I pretty much shave 3-4 times a week.

V O X - September 9, 2019, 5:24 pm

I try to avoid shaving my face often, maybe a week in between shaves, or however long I can get away with (social nights ect tend to call for a shave), other then that I try to avoid shaving, as I get acne brakeouts because of the shaving gel/blade, not sure why I get the breakouts, but ill do anything to stop them.

Fours4 - September 9, 2019, 6:54 pm

I haven't shaved my beard in about 5 years, I only shave my neck and every now and then the top of my cheek level.

CyberStrike - September 10, 2019, 4:21 am

Oh shit, in a week I tend to have a rather obvious beard going if I don't shave. This said I generally at a time I couldn't have a beard (work) and so it was an everyday thing where in I would shave. I got a beard right now, and I do trim it every few time it starts to get a bit bad, random hairs which are sticking out or if certain area's get too long.

why did you got flamed because of it?

I shaved above my dick to nothing week and so ago and now it already grows, it feel like it bites/nip my penis (the hair), I tend to put it away from it.

It was just unlucky, I shaved my armpits like a day ago before it happened, they were a bit itchy. Then suddenly some girl talked about armpits, it was this weird timing where everyone just talked about their armpits and were showing them. I told I shaved mine like a few days ago and the girl was like "which gayboy shaves his armpits"... I was like aaaight.
