Thread: AntiScan, and Nodistribute same CMS? Where do I get one

Venture - September 9, 2019, 5:26 pm

So no distribute.com, and antiscan.me both seem to use the same cms/layout; I was wonderinf if anyone know where to get a cms to setup a service like this myself. ? I think there's something we're missing here. If I could replicate this I could probably innovate it into something better for the community.

I have taken notice in to this could just be copied sources
using same api's
as there is a virustotal clone on github
so maybe using that but modified?

Are you talking about the malice repository located here? <https://github.com/blacktop/malice>

I dont think it was malice since this repository was about a year or less ago not 5 but I mean you could use it for its api properties copy the layout of no distribute then go from there

I've noticed crypters with build in scanners have a tendency to use tokens which get eaten up pretty quick; I figure a flat rate might be enticing. ? Thank you for taking the time to give your feedback, its appreciated.
