Thread: Walter Whites house - Real owner freaks out.

Has anyone here been in Alberquerque? Well the movie Breaking bad was filmed in Alberquerque and they used a real house for the main actor which was called Walter white, and the funny thing is that the real owner of the house they used for the main actor gets people visiting them every day and lately she has been freaking out and the old lady that lives there is camping on the garage 24/7 to scream at fans that want to have a picture outside the house.

I find this very funny, has anyone ever been there and seen this lady? I agree that it's her private space and everything but those fans is literally on the sidewalk and having pictures and this lady tells them to stand on the sidewalk?

LMFAO. I mean what did she expect? I would sell that house the property value is probably through the roof.

I wouldn't mind the attention. I may be upset about the pizzas but Jesus, she doesn't have to be such a bitch to the dude who was doing nothing wrong.

Any house with this much attention is worth more... look at the shameless house, went up by 1.2-1.4 in value (and the neighborhood is shit)

Would be interesting to see if someone from HF lives in Alberquerque and has met this funny woman.
