British Police Drive Through McDonalds While I'm In The Cage - YouTube

I just found my old video it made me laugh, do you think they are allowed to do this with someone in the back?

Brendan - September 15, 2019, 10:54 am

A cop in our town did this once too. They came through with the paddy wagon and he had a few dudes in there.

Rsynced - September 15, 2019, 10:55 am

Huh, they could care less I suppose, best thing is to stay out of the cage ;)

right.. well I just got out of prison on the 29th August 2019, I went there in 24th nov 2018 - I have changed though.. I think I personally have matured and I'm never going back to that place. Because of prison it meant I had to take a break from my uni degree and it really did suck, one does not understand how much I missed the internet and the www.

No more knives.. time to spend my time the way I should of and to get my bachelor.

TheChaosKiller - September 15, 2019, 11:22 am

This happened to some guy when I was at a KFC, a police car came through the drive-thru, and some dude was in the back asking for a mini bucket. Pretty sure they gave him one, guess they were hungry that day!

AYMG - September 15, 2019, 11:31 am

They do want they want to do, not sure if it's legal with you in the cage but there's nothing you can do.

TheRecklessZebra - September 15, 2019, 1:14 pm

You should of ordered food my man, also they didn't take your phone?

Well they tried to... I put it up my rectum (It was one of those tiny jail phones it's called "Beat the boss" phone. If they knew I had it I would of been in deeper trouble but either way... I was in trouble.

HaHa I didnt want to ruin the video by saying "ORDER ME THIS" Just incase they spot the phone.

- I actually pushed the cage open with my legs.. literally all the time I'm in a police van I'm able to push my way out by putting my back against the metal and pushing with my legs. I could technically run away but fuck that

It's like one of these but it isn't that exact model. I forgot what model it was I left the phone in prison to some random person

Do those get past the metal detector chairs? I see some claim to be 99.99% plastic but I think more metal is required for the phone screen , buttons, motherboard.

Well mine did the chair in prison is called "Beat the boss chair" literally it has that written on the chair. Aslong as the sim card is hidden in your mouth and not inside the phone it will be fine.

Hell I've even beeped with a different phone inside me and the prison screws said "Oh the chairs broke. Good job they said that because I was packed full of alsorts to get on my feet in there.

Wow, so do those phones even work? How do you recharge them?

By modify the power from a CD player to charge the phone?

Rigel - September 16, 2019, 3:46 pm

Battery works fine and also so does a cd player yes exactly how you said oh and also a plug socket (you can put a razorblade to a plug socket and wire it up that way also. Yeah ofcourse the phones work.

Doesn't that hurt?! I can't even imagine the thought process behind doing it. I can understand why, but if it's me, I'm going no phone and doing my time.

Yes at first it hurts but you get use to it, lets say my butthole is like a wizards glove xD

It's best you don't take one in anyway because people will try to bully you for it if they know! ?

Yep do the crime do the time, I'd also use the in-cell phone because they would think "HMMM" this guy has family who visit why isn't he using his phone... You have to be wise like that, Then AGAIN i WASN'T WISE GOING TO PRISON I'M ASHAMED

Threat - October 11, 2019, 7:04 pm

Doesn't even hurt them one bit, half the cops who turn on the sirens are just inpatient to wait a couple minutes in traffic.

Niko - October 11, 2019, 7:42 pm

Wasn't there some fucked up story about someone who did something pretty big maybe a school shooting ended up getting burger king on the way to their cell somewhere in the southern USA
