Yes, it was interesting, but the 2nd last episode went a little sideways.

I finished it off fully.

I don't like it personally but a lot of people seem to enjoy it. It's animated by the same people that did Danganronpa which I prefer more

It's great, I like the concept of having to kill your own teacher to survive.

Yeah like we all dreamt of it at school age.

Why does the trailer portray a man standing next to the teacher telling the students he's going to destroy all of mankind, and leaves it up to the students? Someone E L A B O R A T E!

The teacher threatens to destroy the earth unless the students successfully kill him. Its really good, you should definitely have a watch, I'm not going to say any more because it will spoil the story
