

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: IM FUCKING SCARED TO SLEEP

Phorus - September 21, 2019, 9:15 pm

I was having a pretty relaxed night until I found a fucking house centipede in my room.

Last time I saw one was a couple months ago and it freaked me the fuck out.
I went to Home Depot and got some bug spray for the house.

After using it I Hadn't seen one in two months, and today another one appeared. Except this time the little shit was massive.

I tried killing it with my sandal but it ran off and I absolutely lost it.

Sprayed my entire house again and the little crack in the corner of my room.
Went out to get some water, came back and it was running across the wall.
I managed to kill it this time but now I'm paranoid and finished spraying the entire house again.

I can't sleep and I feel weird tingling around my body and freak out every 5 minutes.
It's going to be a long night.

Here's what they look like.

Spoiler (Click to View)

duck - September 21, 2019, 9:18 pm

Holy fuck buddy, that would scare the fuck out of me.
I mean not really but I would feel so disturbed.

I don't even know if we have these in our country, are they any harmful?
Try to sleep in a different room for now or something.

Phorus - September 21, 2019, 9:19 pm

(Sep 21, 2019 09:18 PM)duck Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Holy fugg buddy, that would scare the fugg out of me.
I mean not really but I would feel so disturbed.

I don't even know if we have these in our country, are they any harmful?
Try to sleep in a different room for now or something.

They are venomous but not lethal.

I'm so fucked. I'm paranoid right now.

I keep constantly turning around surveying the area. I'm just scared one will crawl on me while I'm sleeping.

duck - September 21, 2019, 9:29 pm

(Sep 21, 2019 09:19 PM)Phorus Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) They are venomous but not lethal.

I'm so fugged. I'm paranoid right now.

I keep constantly turning around surveying the area. I'm just scared one will crawl on me while I'm sleeping.

Fuck them, I know that feel.

I guess you eventually just fall a sleep, it'll be like that for the next night or two and then you'll get back on track.

Happened to me few times.

Rsynced - September 21, 2019, 9:32 pm

Where are you located, I will admit that thing is scary. You can buy some 'diatomaceous earth' and put it all around your borders of your room/home. It will kill them all and keep new ones from coming.

<https://www.ebay.com/itm/100-Food-Grade-Natural-Diatomaceous-Earth-4OZ-1-4-POUND-SAME-DAY-SHIPPING/183561741488>

(not my item on ebay)

Prettykitty - September 21, 2019, 9:47 pm

I've seen a few mini ones here, but not at that size.

Sometimes I'd rather be sleeping too much to be scared.

Prepper - September 21, 2019, 9:55 pm

They usually avoid humans but rather target things like spiders instead.

Linux X - September 22, 2019, 12:01 am

Sleep with 1 shoe to your head. When you hear noise get your shoe and smash everything what you see.

.jpg.exe - September 22, 2019, 2:06 am

Shit OP! I'd be burning my house down if that fucker was in my room

One - September 22, 2019, 3:28 am

(Sep 21, 2019 09:15 PM)Phorus Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I was having a pretty relaxed night until I found a fugging house centipede in my room.

Last time I saw one was a couple months ago and it freaked me the fugg out.
I went to Home Depot and got some bug spray for the house.

After using it I Hadn't seen one in two months, and today another one appeared. Except this time the little Clay Davis was massive.

I tried killing it with my sandal but it ran off and I absolutely lost it.

Sprayed my entire house again and the little crack in the corner of my room.
Went out to get some water, came back and it was running across the wall.
I managed to kill it this time but now I'm paranoid and finished spraying the entire house again.

I can't sleep and I feel weird tingling around my body and freak out every 5 minutes.
It's going to be a long night.

Here's what they look like.

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

Burn the whole house down lol jk ,Try moving your furnitures out,Search for it till you find that Fugger

LoremIpsum - September 22, 2019, 3:32 am

This is a guaranteed success:

Lay down in your bed.
Put sand, flour or baby-powder everywhere on your floor.
Go to sleep and wake up the next day.
Follow the little footprints of your new roommate to his resting place.
Take away his life, but let his body lay in the same place as a warning for the rest.

Joking. Sorry, bad humour. I assume you could try to call some anti-bugs company which will clean your house, just in case they are hidden in some dark and moist place of your house.

BTC BTC BTC - September 22, 2019, 3:38 am

BRO that shit is So nasty. I got woken up by a fucking huge spider running accross my floor I flipped shit n eventually got enough courage to vacuum that motherfucker up

Paint - September 22, 2019, 3:39 am

(Sep 21, 2019 09:15 PM)Phorus Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I was having a pretty relaxed night until I found a fugging house centipede in my room.

Last time I saw one was a couple months ago and it freaked me the fugg out.
I went to Home Depot and got some bug spray for the house.

After using it I Hadn't seen one in two months, and today another one appeared. Except this time the little Clay Davis was massive.
I tried killing it with my sandal but it ran off and I absolutely lost it.

Sprayed my entire house again and the little crack in the corner of my room.
Went out to get some water, came back and it was running across the wall.
I managed to kill it this time but now I'm paranoid and finished spraying the entire house again.

I can't sleep and I feel weird tingling around my body and freak out every 5 minutes.
It's going to be a long night.

Here's what they look like.

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

Omg I literally had the same shit you just wrote. If one of those things enter my room I will not sleep that night ideaatounotesutowan - September 22, 2019, 4:29 am

(Sep 21, 2019 09:15 PM)Phorus Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I was having a pretty relaxed night until I found a fugging house centipede in my room.

Last time I saw one was a couple months ago and it freaked me the fugg out.
I went to Home Depot and got some bug spray for the house.

After using it I Hadn't seen one in two months, and today another one appeared. Except this time the little Clay Davis was massive.
I tried killing it with my sandal but it ran off and I absolutely lost it.

Sprayed my entire house again and the little crack in the corner of my room.
Went out to get some water, came back and it was running across the wall.
I managed to kill it this time but now I'm paranoid and finished spraying the entire house again.

I can't sleep and I feel weird tingling around my body and freak out every 5 minutes.

It's going to be a long night.

Here's what they look like.

Spoiler (Click to View)

Dude - i don't wanna read or look at all this; just to be shocked.

Why a Centipede in your sleep - what happened?

Vyrkfrir - September 22, 2019, 4:35 am

They're creepy little fuckers. Seeing it run across the wall just after spraying is normal. Insecticides kill by suffocating, it blocks the air holes on the sides of most insects (they don't have lungs, like an air intake on a car they breath from motion through holes on their exoskeletons) the bastard was probably suffocating after copping a spray to the face and was running wild trying to breathe.

I imagine centipedes are much the same in how they intake oxygen.

If you've sprayed all entry (always best to do perimeter) points you shouldn't see 'em for a few months if it's proper shit.

Moxxi - September 22, 2019, 4:38 am just get some of these

https://www.amazon.com/gp/product/B007K1MJNS/ref=ppx_yo_dt_b_search_asin_title?ie=UTF8&psc=1

you stick them under furniture and in corners and against walls and when stuff walks over them they get stuck

Vyrkfrir - September 22, 2019, 4:58 am

(Sep 22, 2019 04:38 AM)Moxxi Wrote: (CITE) just get some of these

https://www.amazon.com/gp/product/B007K1MJNS/ref=ppx_yo_dt_b_search_asin_title?ie=UTF8&psc=1

you stick them under furniture and in corners and against walls and when stuff walks over them they get stuck

The only thing I don't like about them is the stink decomposing insect. Funnily enough insect tape isnt as popular here in Australia - despite the torrential hordes of flies.

Moxxi - September 22, 2019, 5:43 am

(Sep 22, 2019 04:58 AM)Vyrkfrir Wrote: (CITE) The only thing I don't like about them is the stink decomposing insect. Funnily enough insect tape isnt as popular here in Australia - despite the torrential hordes of flies.

idk I mean i wouldnt just leave them for months lol check em like once a week and if they got shit in them replace em

Vyrkfrir - September 22, 2019, 5:46 am

(Sep 22, 2019 05:43 AM)Moxxi Wrote: (CITE) idk I mean i wouldnt just leave them for months lol

check em like once a week and if they got Clay Davis in them replace em

Nah just get a good perimeter spray that lasts a few months and reapply once every couple months. You'll probably rarely see them in the house thereafter. Almost everyone does it here because the spiders get everywhere (redbacks especially under chairs and shit).

Krepto - September 22, 2019, 6:02 am

I've never seen one of them, nor do I think I want too lmao. Hope you managed to get some sleep.

Moxxi - September 22, 2019, 6:31 am

(Sep 22, 2019 05:46 AM)Vyrkfrir Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Nah just get a good perimeter spray that lasts a few months and reapply once every couple months. You'll probably rarely see them in the house thereafter. Almost everyone does it here because the spiders get everywhere (redbacks especially under chairs and Clay Davis).

eh, I have a pest guy that comes out once a month and does my house

i got the glue trap things for under furniture tho cuz we have wolf spiders sometimes i live near the woods

funtela - September 22, 2019, 8:29 am

(Sep 22, 2019 04:58 AM)Vyrkfrir Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The only thing I don't like about them is the stink decomposing insect. Funnily enough insect tape isnt as popular here in Australia - despite the torrential hordes of flies.

Damn you guys have a lot of flies? I hate them no_one - September 22, 2019, 8:31 am try to use insecticides or catch it and drop it outside

N - September 22, 2019, 8:34 am

We get these sometimes, I'm close by a forest / trails. All you need is a good perimeter spray for around your house, get the gaps in exposed areas. In the basement I have some electronic shit plugged into the wall that supposedly sends out a signal or something for critters and shit.

Phorus - September 22, 2019, 8:59 am

(Sep 21, 2019 09:32 PM)Rsynced Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Where are you located, I will admit that thing is scary. You can buy some 'diatomaceous earth' and put it all around your borders of your room/home. It will kill them all and keep new ones from coming.

100% Food Grade Natural Diatomaceous Earth 4OZ \(1/4 POUND\) SAME DAY SHIPPING! | eBay

(not my item on ebay)

I'm in NY. I got some spray that is supposed to keep them from entering the cracks and the house itself.

It works well for a few months. Thanks for the recommendation.

(Sep 21, 2019 09:47 PM)Prettykitty Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I've seen a few mini ones here, but not at that size.

Sometimes I'd rather be sleeping too much to be scared.
I eventually managed to sleep, was too tired to care.

(Sep 21, 2019 09:55 PM)Prepper Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) They usually avoid humans but rather target things like spiders instead.

They do avoid humans, and they run really fast.

(Sep 22, 2019 12:01 AM)Graphic Pleasure Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Sleep with 1 shoe to your head. When you hear noise get your shoe and smash everything what you see.

LOL, I did sleep with the blanket over my ear though just in case.

(Sep 22, 2019 02:06 AM).jpg.exe Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Clay Davis OP! I'd be burning my house down if that fuggger was in my room
I wish I could.

(Sep 22, 2019 03:28 AM)One Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Burn the whole house down lol jk ,Try moving your furnitures out,Search for it till you find that Fugger
I managed to kill it when it came out after I sprayed my room.

(Sep 22, 2019 03:32 AM)Loremlpsum Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This is a guaranteed success:

Lay down in your bed.
Put sand, flour or baby-powder everywhere on your floor.
Go to sleep and wake up the next day.
Follow the little footprints of your new roommate to his resting place.
Take away his life, but let his body lay in the same place as a warning for the rest.

Joking. Sorry, bad humour. I assume you could try to call some anti-bugs company which will clean your house, just in case they are hidden in some dark and moist place of your house.
An exterminator might be needed. I read online that if these are present in your house, it could be a sign of another pest infestation.
Although, I haven't seen anything else.

(Sep 22, 2019 03:38 AM)Purities Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) BRO that Clay Davis is So nasty. I got woken up by a fugging huge spider running accross my floor I flipped Clay Davis n eventually got enough courage to vacuum that mommyfugger up
I honestly can't take chances getting the vacuum from the other room. I usually just kill everything on site.

(Sep 22, 2019 03:39 AM)Paint Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Omg I literally had the same Clay Davis you just wrote.
If one of those things enter my room I will not sleep that night
Guess we are the same.

(Sep 22, 2019 04:29 AM)ideaatounotesutowan Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Dude - i don't wanna read or look at all this; just to be shocked.
Why a Centipede in your sleep - what happened?
It appeared right before I was about to go to bed. That's why I was terrified.

(Sep 22, 2019 04:35 AM)Vyrkfrir Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) They're creepy little fuckers. Seeing it run across the wall just after spraying is normal. Insecticides kill by suffocating, it blocks the air holes on the sides of most insects (they don't have lungs, like an air intake on a car they breath from motion through holes on their exoskeletons) the bastard was probably suffocating after copping a spray to the face and was running wild trying to breathe.

I imagine centipedes are much the same in how they intake oxygen.

If you've sprayed all entry (always best to do perimeter) points you shouldn't see 'em for a few months if it's proper Clay Davis.
Yup, sprayed the entry and perimeter of all rooms. Hopefully won't be seeing another for a good few months.

(Sep 22, 2019 04:38 AM)Moxxi Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) just get some of these

https://www.amazon.com/gp/product/B007K1MJNS/ref=ppx_yo_dt_b_search_asin_title?ie=UTF8&p_sc=1

you stick them under furniture and in corners and against walls and when stuff walks over them they get stuck

Problem is they're usually not on the floors, at least I haven't seen one on the floor yet.

Most of the time I spot them on the wall. I'd rather them die with the spray than to clear out mats.

Thanks for the recommendation though!

(Sep 22, 2019 04:58 AM)Vyrkfrir Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The only thing I don't like about them is the stink decomposing insect. Funnily enough insect tape isnt as popular here in Australia - despite the torrential hordes of flies.

Insect tape isn't popular here, or at least hasn't been for a while.

(Sep 22, 2019 05:43 AM)Moxxi Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) idk I mean i wouldnt just leave them for months lol

check em like once a week and if they got Clay Davis in them replace em

I just don't want to be near them LOL.

(Sep 22, 2019 05:46 AM)Vyrkfrir Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Nah just get a good perimeter spray that lasts a few months and reapply once every couple months. You'll probably rarely see them in the house thereafter. Almost everyone does it here because the spiders get everywhere (redbacks especially under chairs and Clay Davis).

Yup that's what I'm doing at the moment.

(Sep 22, 2019 06:02 AM)Krepto Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I've never seen one of them, nor do I think I want too lmao. Hope you managed to get some sleep.

I got some good sleep actually.

(Sep 22, 2019 06:31 AM)Moxxi Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) eh, I have a pest guy that comes out once a month and does my house

i got the glue trap things for under furniture tho cuz we have wolf spiders sometimes i live near the woods

I need a pest guy, maybe if this thing doesn't control itself I have to hire someone.

Living near woods is kind of creepy.

(Sep 22, 2019 08:29 AM)funtela Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Damn you guys have a lot of flies? I hate them Rarely any flies here, besides for the occasional one that comes in randomly during summer.

(Sep 22, 2019 08:31 AM)no_one Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) try to use insecticides or catch it and drop it outside I'm not catching that thing. Insecticides is what I'm currently using.

(Sep 22, 2019 08:34 AM)Nixhxlax Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) We get these sometimes, I'm close by a forest / trails. All you need is a good perimeter spray for around your house, get the gaps in exposed areas. In the basement I have some electronic Clay Davis plugged into the wall that supposedly sends out a signal or something for critters and Clay Davis.

The perimeter spray I have seems to be good for around 2 months. Might need to get a better one.

(Sep 22, 2019 08:59 AM)Phorus Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I got some good sleep actually. Glad you got some good sleep mate!

SneakyHF - September 22, 2019, 9:37 am tf that's massive, i'd freak out for sure too. that's almost like an alien entity haha luckily where i'm from we dont have those..

TheRecklessZebra - September 22, 2019, 10:59 am

That's insanely huge my dude I've had a few little ones but nothing like that, i would get a trap or something to attract anymore that come.

Grim - September 22, 2019, 11:03 am

Had the same thing happen with me with a GIANT spider a few weeks go not fun man. i finally found it and killed it though

Tyler Durden. - September 22, 2019, 11:04 am

BRO. That shit is fucking terrifying.

Listen. A month ago I arrived from Queensland, AU after being there 4 months on overseas work. I'm originally from Denmark, and we have nearly NONE insects of these sorts.

You might not believe me, but this kind of insect was in my FUCKING APARTMENT!!!!

PS. Image is from Google:

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

Phorus - September 22, 2019, 11:11 am

(Sep 22, 2019 09:22 AM)Krepto Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Glad you got some good sleep mate!

Well I had those things in my sleep, but it was good sleep nonetheless.

(Sep 22, 2019 10:59 AM)TheRecklessZebra Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That's insanely huge my dude I've had a few little ones but nothing like that, i would get a trap or something to attract anymore that come.

Fuck trapping the things, I just want to spray and kill them.

(Sep 22, 2019 11:03 AM)Grim Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Had the same thing happen with me with a GIANT spider a few weeks go not fun man. i finally found it and killed it though

If I hadn't killed it, I honestly don't think I would have slept. Thank god the spray worked.

(Sep 22, 2019 11:04 AM)Tyler Durden. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) BRO. That Clay Davis is fugging terrifying.

Listen. A month ago I arrived from Queensland, AU after being there 4 months on overseas work. I'm originally from Denmark, and we have nearly NONE insects of these sorts.

You might not believe me, but this kind of insect was in my fugging APARTMENT!!!!

PS. Image is from Google:

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

I'd fucking scream at the top of my lungs if I saw that shit.

I honestly can't deal with weird looking insects.

PrinceOfTruth - September 22, 2019, 12:33 pm

I hope you get things in order OP. Personally I hate to be near bees and other stingers. I know the feeling.

Rsynced - September 22, 2019, 12:45 pm

Wow NY, I'm in Florida and never seen anything so bizarre looking. They have adapted to the city I suppose?

Def try that powder it works wonders, you can eat it and feed it to your pets also. It's really good stuff, do some research.

Rigel - September 22, 2019, 1:50 pm

You'll be all right now after killing it. Just don't stick your feet or hands outside the bed.

dragonHarem - September 22, 2019, 2:01 pm

(Sep 21, 2019 09:15 PM)Phorus Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I was having a pretty relaxed night until I found a fugging house centipede in my room.

Last time I saw one was a couple months ago and it freaked me the fugg out.
I went to Home Depot and got some bug spray for the house.

After using it I Hadn't seen one in two months, and today another one appeared. Except this time the little Clay Davis was massive.
I tried killing it with my sandal but it ran off and I absolutely lost it.

Sprayed my entire house again and the little crack in the corner of my room.
Went out to get some water, came back and it was running across the wall.
I managed to kill it this time but now I'm paranoid and finished spraying the entire house again.

I can't sleep and I feel weird tingling around my body and freak out every 5 minutes.
It's going to be a long night.

Here's what they look like.

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

WTF i wouldnt live there. i would move every furniture then lock doors and fill gaps and do it about every room

(Sep 22, 2019 03:32 AM)Loremlpsum Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This is a guaranteed success:

Lay down in your bed.
Put sand, flour or baby-powder everywhere on your floor.
Go to sleep and wake up the next day.
Follow the little footprints of your new roommate to his resting place.
Take away his life, but let his body lay in the same place as a warning for the rest.

Joking. Sorry, bad humour. I assume you could try to call some anti-bugs company which will clean your house, just in case they are hidden in some dark and moist place of your house.
dude that was good idea except they move on walls sometimes? or no?

ps my centipedes are small like fingertips. fugg OP for not telling us for comparison how big it is,on photo it looks huge like frog but maybe photo is zoomed and its small

XanaxHeister - September 22, 2019, 2:10 pm

Sounds like Australia kind of problem. Just see where they come from lol and while you sleep, block their hole or some shit

AYMG - September 22, 2019, 2:13 pm

Don't be scared of centipedes, they are actually interesting to watch while they move.

Lindros - September 22, 2019, 2:20 pm

I've been having a lot of spiders in my room and I wake up sometimes to find them dead next to me on my bed. Obviously I probably roll around in my sleep and kill them. Not a big deal. If I see them alive I kill them with a towel and discard them in the trash. That or I catch them in a cup and scald them with hot water.

You just got to get over the irrational fear. That thing is not going to hurt you.

cybr - September 22, 2019, 2:50 pm

looks like you should call animal control

Phorus - September 22, 2019, 2:52 pm

(Sep 22, 2019 02:50 PM)cybr Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) looks like you should call animal control

I see one or two every 2 - 3 months or so. Before the one I saw yesterday it had been a solid 6 months.

If it starts to become a big issue, I'll get someone to fix it.

Lindros - September 22, 2019, 2:53 pm

(Sep 22, 2019 02:52 PM)Phorus Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I see one or two every 2 - 3 months or so. Before the one I saw yesterday it had been a solid 6 months.

If it starts to become a big issue, I'll get someone to fix it.

I've been seeing spiders literally every 2 days. Big fuckers too, on my walls or on my bed. I still sleep okay. Somehow they always disappear whenever my Girlfriend is around thankfully LOL.

pubmaster - September 22, 2019, 2:55 pm

I've read somewhere that these are no danger to humans and are actually useful cause they hunt bugs and spiders.

Lindros - September 22, 2019, 2:55 pm

(Sep 22, 2019 02:55 PM)pubmaster Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I've read somewhere that these are no danger to humans and are actually useful cause they hunt bugs and spiders.

Yeah I'd let one of those guys go in my room to fuck up all the spiders.

(Sep 22, 2019 11:04 AM)Tyler Durden. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) BRO. That Clay Davis is fugging terrifying. Listen. A month ago I arrived from Queensland, AU after being there 4 months on overseas work. I'm originally from Denmark, and we have nearly NONE insects of these sorts.

You might not believe me, but this kind of insect was in my fugging APARTMENT!!!!

PS. Image is from Google:

Spoiler (Click to View)

Bro what is that little mutant?

W3 S33 4LL - September 22, 2019, 3:07 pm

What the hell was that?

Now I don't even wanna sleep in my own bed! Terrifying!

ideaatounotesutowan - September 22, 2019, 4:20 pm

(Sep 22, 2019 08:59 AM)Phorus Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It appeared right before I was about to go to bed. That's why I was terrified.Gotcha; and yep - you are.

XwhoXamXiX - September 22, 2019, 4:44 pm

Duck I don't think sleeping in a different room would help centipedes have many legs and can visit many rooms lol