But you, a Human, depend on Oxygen to survive. So by planting a tree, you are improving your own health.

For 1 year they plant about 4k trees, but also for 1 year they cut over 400k trees. Stupid humans.

Thats similar to strangling ourselves!

thats crazy!

We need the trees!

The only reason we left the forest was because it was dried up due to desertification! Humanity needs to grow back towards the rainforest lifestyle.

We were our most sane in the forests, we were forced onto the African Savvanah by the Trees (Our homes) dying underneith us.

That is the source of our humanity. The Celtic Tree of Life confirms this for me. The fact that trees produce oxygen and thus create our life, and the atmosphere, confirms this further.

What im saying is people have forgotten what it means to live in balance (sitting on tree branch reference) with nature.

In reality, I see this dollar in future being deforested for lumber.

Call me a cynic, but it's the way our world works. Someone's always out to make some coin.

And we simply need trees.

I can agree with you that the trees produce oxygen.They are important to us. But do you think the millionaires and billionaires care about the trees? 90% of the ppl care about their money and their life.

Explain this to them. Not in this forum. 1 person can't make changes. Everyone knows this.
