Thread: Bringing back the Minecraft section

yakabuff - September 29, 2019, 11:53 pm

Hello admins

I think it would be better if the MMO/RPG section was split up into more specific sections for each game like it was before. While they have similarities, the games discussed in these section are very diverse and it becomes difficult to find older posts of, for example, Minecraft in a sea of Runescape posts.

The sub-forums were not active enough to keep them seperated. They were merged for a reason.

I see.

Perhaps giving all the old posts from each subforum a tag? Or maybe display the posts from these sections in the same subforum like it is currently but keep the old categories in the search menu?

Some thread prefixes for the specific games would probably be nice and a bit more clear to follow what is what.

Well it's a popular game and there has been a huge resurgence recently

I've already done the split/merge a couple times. Not going to bother with it again. Minecraft activity is unstable.

Minecraft is an unstable game, one day it's active the other day it isn't, that's why it merged.

No the whole gaming section is dead, if Omni was to bring back Hackercraft then I could understand
