that link you sent? Attention Required! | Cloudflare proves nothing it is just signature static scanning oh and the engines submitted by AV vendors on online scan services are NOT normally identical to engines in actual released products. they normally also miss a lot of engine features. some of them still include things like ML and cloud rep but not all do. so..even your static scan proofs is bs enlighten us all on how you know if it is "Completely FUD" at "Runtime"

As I stated in the thread, any inquiries and or questions can be handled via PM and displayed externally. Runtime detections are checked via a VM with several snapshots of multiple different AV solution products. Feel free to PM if you have any more inquiries. Scans are done in the video itself as well of an output file then tested.

That's your opinion my friend, you are blatantly toxic. If you don't like my work then learn programming and make your own project. Move on.

Move on. this has nothing to do with my programming background or my own projects. seems i hit a nerve. i wonder why. hhhmm if calling out crappy things being sold makes me toxic then so be it...guilty as charged hehehee

Hit a nerve? So apparently someone thinks they are all that? The project is far from "crappy" in your own words, I doubt you've even had any experience in the field. You're far from who that ego you try to present. Lets see some of your projects, and not that copy and paste Cs:Go shit. :)

Lets see some of your projects, and not that copy and paste Cs:Go Clay Davis. :) very easy to make you emotional. all one must do is disrespect a project of yours. a sane, mentally robust person...would just ignore it and move on. you can doubt I have experience in the field. that is alright. I can handle that ideology. except none of that is relevant to the discussion of...smoke and mirrors in your marketing & trash being sold.

keep changing the topic to being about me but it doesn't hide what is going on here...Clay Davis. :)
