LOL yes I was just playin' about that.

I doubt the actual song caused any suicides however I guarantee you that there are some who were truly negatively effected by the video just because of the time it was released. That year was a very dark year (at least in my area) for kids committing suicide, cutting, and just self harming overall. And that song brags about parties and going out etc, which many kids (who suffered from what I mentioned above) haven't even had a taste of. So when they see this new song so "popular" I can understand why it'd be more of a factor rather than initial cause.

Honestly I really liked 13 Reasons Why when I was watching it, though I never got past the start of Season 2 I believe.

I really liked the subjects they touched on because no one does, and it needs to be brought to light more. Too many kids think that they're alone in this world because of their demons and if they would just talk to ONE fucking person their whole outlook on life could change and I know this because I've been there. Not suicidal really, but just in a dark place where I NEEDED that one person to talk to me and if I didn't get it hell who knows I could still be spiraling out of control with heavy drugs.

I'd rather see it talked about and broadcasted than hidden because it's fucking happening and parents/teachers/authorities need to accept it and be aware of it.

We don't just have a drug/opiate epidemic in this country right now, we also have a rise in depression/anxiety epidemic in teens and imo it's pretty goddamn clear what's causing most of it.

This is very true bro.

Its insanely sad to ! I live in a town of like 100 people and with in the last few years theres been a lot of suicides and even heroin over doses here and even with teanagers its insane ! Like I dont understand how a 14 year old would want to use heroin the new generation scares the shit out of me there growing up to fast when I was 14 I just wanted to ride my bike around. But in a town of 100 people you shouldn't be seeing so many suicides and what is more strange is we hadn't had any suicides at all its litterly such a small town and the last few years weve had up to ten.We got a shitty motel here that the owner is indian and he lets any one get a room even if your under 18 every one goes there and does really bad shit cause its only 40$ a night and you can even rent the rooms hourly. I think renting rooms hourly should be illegal to be honest.

And that is cool you like the show I just felt like they were pushing it onto little kids I litterly had my sisters account set up for she could only watch certain shows like 14+ max and some how she was watching it she could of been on my account. I just felt like they were gloryizing the deceased and kind of made it look it was cool to be "famous" for killing your self. It really makes me sad but I totally agree with you I wish more people would come out and just talk about there emotional needs and I wish there would be more loving people that would be there for the ones who need it.

I just felt like they were gloryizing the deceased and kind of made it look it was cool to be "famous" for killing your self. It really makes me sad but I totally agree with you I wish more people would come out and just talk about there emotional needs and I wish there would be more loving people that would be there for the ones who need it.

Yeah man. I used to run help desks in the Innuendo section and a variety of them as well and at the time they were a very popular place for people to come in a time of need. I've talked to members about so many different things in life it's honestly kinda crazy. From members with 2 posts and no rep to site-wide known members, everyone eventually needs help in some situation.

Also, how old are you if you don't mind me asking? Just curious because you said you would rather be out riding your bike at 14 so I'm just trying to figure out if we're from the same generation or? Reason I'm asking is because I can answer your question about why kids that young are doing it.

Im a 90s kid at heart I will be 27 here in a few months :P

I miss life how it use to be man like how we were talking about the "old days" we were all on vista and xp back then and I liked those days better

I liked HF better back then to and I see older members saying that as well. I honestly dont know if it was really better back then or if it was just cause we were young and those were the days we loved. Being a kid was so much fun and being a teenager was even better. I think I honestly liked the vista scene more just cause I was young then and had so much time to learn and try everything. Now I am working on getting a job in real life and probley will go inactive again How old are you bro ? And hell yeah man I appreciate you helping people that makes you a kind hearted person I honestly wish I could have helped more people in that kind of situation then I ever did I might have helped 1 - 2 people in that situation but wish I could save 100's its fucked up bro chester bennington litterly breaks my heart to.

I think it's a little of both to be honest. HF was definitely different back then but we were also young so that plays a huge factor in what intrigued us at the time and drew our attention. That and all the time we had to do it.

Brooo I miss Chester so fucking much, I grew up listening to him. Legit broke my heart the day I found out he passed. :/

Anyway, to the point of my question. (I'm in my mid twenties btw)

Reason I asked was because I was 14 when I started using heroin that's what really sparked my (from then till now) very long term addiction. Now I've been clean from heroin specifically for a decent number of years, however I did relapse on perc30s in late 2014-early 2015 and that lasted about 2 years. I found that age really doesn't matter in that equation, if you're gonna do it you're just gonna do it. But I have been "clean" from all street drugs (other than weed but that doesn't really count lol) for just 3 years now so it's something I'm really proud of. I go to a doctor that many other addicts in recovery go to for a certain medication that basically helps me cope with not being on drugs and allows me to feel "normal" on a day-to-day basis.

Damn bro im sorry to hear that I know heroin is a mf ive only used it like twice by snorting it. I know first hand how bad it is tho from my friends who have used it my uncle just passed in may from it and was 50 years old it was littlerly unreal and insane. Over dosing is deff not funny and is really scary cause its a un predictable death some one you love can be perfectly fine in front of you and die a few hours later.

Yeah chester was fucking awesome I have no idea why he would do that :(he had a real bad drug problem but his wife said he was clean and was just using alcohol that and curt cobain is just kinda fucked up tbh :(
