Thread: Indians drivers are the scariest cunts around

Prince Philip - October 9, 2019, 3:13 am

I hopped in a taxi a few months ago to go to Coolangatta airport. It was one of those van ones which was driven by an Indian, or should I say armed and ready to attack.

Maybe it was the way I sat in that van (facing backwards) but the Indian driving it was the scariest cunt that there was. When I drive early in the morning I don't bowl it like this gentleman did. He had only one interest which was taking me from the hotel to the airport as quick as possible.

I hate being the passenger. I would rather be a driver and in control of the vehicle. I don't trust these homos when I am a passenger. Take it easy for the love of God. Be economical. Be slow. There's no need to drive like a topgrade wanker why didn't you ask him to slow down bro ? Communication is key.

Theres been people that are tourist that have gotten fucked that way lol theres videos on youtube.

And why didnt you sit in the van the normal way ! ?
why would you sit in it back words lol !

Bro next time ask him if you can drive and him sit in the back he might let you then you can drive him all crazy see how he likes it.

Sometimes the drivers license can't drive for you when you got no experience and drivers bon ton.

I know exactly how you feel man!

My Uber driver this morning must have thought he was playing Mario Kart or something.

He was weaving through a traffic like it was nobody's business and using the speed bumps as ramps.

I was just sat there waiting for him to drop a banana peel and shoot a turtle shell at another car or something.

Needless to say, I got a refund for the danger I was put in and I left a 1 star rating with a note that said to slow down and lay off of the red bull.

I don't mind it if it's someone I know or a friend or something but I'm not ready to die due to a stranger's recklessness, lol.
