"Seller pays bytes transfer fee kappa" you understand that means you'll be the one paying bytes fees right?

Technically $5 per 1k, since all the crews were bought at 100k. Only one was bought recently for 250k and I know he won't sell his lol. So this is more geared towards any of the other crew bosses. Maybe kawen or MMLF don't want that deadweight anymore. But I'm not buying bytes, I'm buying a crew which atm is far less valuable than bytes.

I wouldn't even use it for the crew function since that's dead content atm. I want to be able to display the $120 userbar I bought for Gamblers but decided not to use lol

Kappa insinuates sarcasm. How can you use a word that has a direct meaning without being literal. Just stop saying it dipsh*t, stick to the math.

Lol no.

With your group and crew logic this would be a quick cash grab for you. You spend $500 on the crew, implement some other gambling system or some other monthly fee in order to join/be a part of your new crew. Then after a little bit of time that $500 will be paid off and not only will you have made your money back, but then you'll sell the crew at a later date and whatever you sell it for will be profit.

You own a Gamblers group with a monthly membership fee of $50. The last group to have a monthly fee was illuminati and it was $100 for the same reason, to "cover the groups monthly giveaways/tournaments whatever" when in reality there were only ever three giveaways held by Anon. Point is, we're not dumb dude.

Actually never thought about that part. But no one would ever pay monthly for the crew. So I could charge like $25 for lifetime. Which would make it so I would have only spent $25 for the userbar since I can only sell 19 spots.

As far as the group, yeah I get a nice $10 per person per month. Gotta start getting some of the $3500 back kappa Honestly, I feel like something in the middle ($600-$650) would actually work. Like you said, you are calculating it at $5 per 1k at 100k since that was the initial price for them. You know as well as anyone else that the value of crews has gone up massively since the price update. Just my piece of mind.
