yes ofourse we did execution rate was around 80% from botshop but for higher profitability and execition botshops are not soo recomended they would give u shared installs not private.

I asked the seller for a test on demo hosting, because it's a new bot without any reliable review. I got this answer.

"yes i had a demo hosting for test and i canceled it due to toooooo many requests and most of them were kids coming to play sorry about that no more free tests screenshots show enough "

I agree the broke kids, but no sale, no vouch copy, no any review. How we know its really working properly? Deal with caution.

dude, OP put in numerous hours developing, testing and debugging. don't sulk if he says he ain't gonna give out vouch copy. he gives those at his own discretion.

used to ask for vouch copies in the past some give me some don't but it does not give me the right to run to their thread and sulk.

@ OP, consider giving respected trusted member and reliable member of your choice to review, to promote trust, inspire confidence and increase sale.

i love the clean simple and well arranged of your bot.
