What are r6 servers? If someone could point me in the right direction that would be great.

Scratch that. You're referring to Rainbow Six servers.

Maybe try Sublist3r and search for subdomains?

Bruh, he's not referring to the actual literal servers, he's asking how to get the ip's of the players on the server in the match that he's playing in.

Its not impossible at all, you can use something like octosniff or lanc will work. You go into the game and dont set a port to sniff on and the game server is always microsoft azure. I cant quite remember but is around the 5k mark. You will know when u have it as its the azure server. Its that easy then u put the IP and PORT into you botnet or your stresser and watch the game crash!
