Thread: How did you make your first bucks online?

Mr Professor - October 22, 2019, 9:14 am

For me, it was completing surveys on swagbucks around 5-6 years ago.

What about you?

de_g3ntl3m4n - October 22, 2019, 9:19 am

That really worked out? how long had you spent on them? always felt surveys were a scam, i used to host modded lobbies for GTA and have a account recovery service

SIM-3387369 - October 22, 2019, 9:19 am

I'd create basic api automating programs in C# and sell them for a dollar each.

It worked out but it was too time-consuming for the amount of $ I was making from it.

funtela - October 22, 2019, 9:42 am

Zexi - October 22, 2019, 9:59 am

First ever online money was for doing graphics work way way back.

CyberError - October 22, 2019, 9:59 am in my local currecny it was from some referral program , earn quite good money , But if i talk about Dollar i earned maybe 30-50$ with ewhoring back when i started i was super pumped

BTC - October 22, 2019, 10:07 am

Selling a domain name.

Can't remember for the life of me what the domain was. But I was really in to buying and reselling domain names back in the day. Huge potential but I only did it for 6 months or so before having to really focus on school, so I stopped.

u?op ?pisdn - October 22, 2019, 10:15 am

Exactly the same buddy, completing surveys on dollarupload. I think I still have €39 on it which I couldn't cash out, had to have €50 minimum.

The worst part was when you did a really annoying survey but then they wouldn't payout.

Sharecash made my first buck, around the same time as my first virtual game currency exchange for USD.

Being underage + selling things like this was the ultimate PayPal nightmare. One of the few things I'm really happy to never do again, earning money through PayPal.

This was a huge thing for me. The world of 'hacking' went open when I first worked with the Sharecash bypassed. Either way, it was a fun time.

LordMan - October 22, 2019, 12:46 pm

My girlfriend makes a couple of bucks per month doing surveys occasionally.

I've been creating websites since 8, so 22 years ago. I never managed to earn a single buck over all the years until 7 months ago when I started my current business.

In my opinion, it's a fantastic system where im earning money while sleeping with dropshipping currency for a specific game.

The majority of the earnings are being invested in BTC

Silkroad - October 22, 2019, 12:51 pm

I built a shopify store and sold women's clothing for about 7 months.

I made a couple of hundreds in the first 2 months and like 4k in the last 5 months.

Time to make a change.

Aznar - October 22, 2019, 2:03 pm

First one was selling in game items I got with a pretty stupid, but private exploit in Multicraft's CP.

The easiest though? I threw together a python script that did surveys for my first place of employment, and my manager split the bonus with me he got for the surveys.

Edit: by threw together, I mean I copied and pasted almost everything in it.

Silkroad - October 22, 2019, 2:07 pm

Second post but actually, my first time making money online was by hacking accounts of an mmorpg called Tibia.

I hacked hundreds of high levels and sold millions of in-game cash for a lot of money.

I got caught for it after 6 years of doing it.

Maxorg - October 22, 2019, 3:40 pm

I started off with selling game coins on a popular game. I won't name it for many reasons ?

Well, now I am a student which honestly seizes my capabilities to do as much now. I am in a manager position for a corporation which offers good pay and benefits including business trips which are amazing. I do time to time still sell books on another forum but that's on a rare occasion. Honestly, I am in a thinking period looking, studying and discovering different options to eventually maintain a successful business of my own. If not, moving up in the company I am within now would be the best alternative and certainly sustainable. But, I don't keep myself closed to options. ?
