Thread: LOGO DESIGN CONTEST - Paying \$125 BTC or PayPal for a LOGO!!

audemar - November 3, 2019, 9:56 pm

I am looking for a very HQ logo for a client, can pay $125 via PayPal and/or BTC. The name of the company and the text required on the logo is: "Ambrosia Med Spa". This is a spa company so make the logo accordingly.

In this scenario, unfortunately, we have no specifications and require the designers to use their imagination to come up with designs and colors on their own. A completely new website & branding is being led by me and if I like your work I am more than happy to retain you onto the team where you will earn much more.

Need the logo done by November 20, 2019 - the best submission will get $100 right away. You can either post the logo you make below or send me one via PM's.

WINNER:

How does this concern you when you didn't even enter? Motusora has no life, broke ass - I already told the winner he won and transferred funds

As i already said on Discord, the first time that you hosted a logo contest for edmontonmarketing.co this same scenario happened, where i submitted a couple of entries, and then you just vanished, never to be heard from again. Logos take time to make, and in a form of contest it's A LOT of time for a number of people.

Please let us know who won, and i hope you're not going to say it's an off-site thing, but if so, you can always provide proof.

Note: This is not a personal thing, i'm just making sure you're legit, that way i can trust your contest next time and work with you in the future. I'm fine with not winning just as long as you keep the thread transparent and tell us who did.

Have a good one.

Says the idiot that made me pay for a logo then didn't deliver for months. You're saying i'm toxic? Why're you flaming on my thread and posting here if you didn't even enter? You're brain dead kid.

What's up XanPa, I didn't tell you that you won this contest. Also, I don't decide the winner, my team and the client does. Please don't blame me if you didn't win, better luck next time.

You can both check the thread for the winner, thank you.
