Thread: Using Homoglyph - Cloning domains / Forum Users / Chatrooms

This is just a quick tutorial on how to clone usernames, this wont work on every website you go to but you'll find that it works on most websites. As I said you can use to to clone forum usernames / to clone domains and other stuff. This doesn't fall under hacking but I wasn't sure where else to put it, if this helps at least 1 person out then my job is done! You could technically make a website "GOOGLE.COM using homoglyph but as soon as you try to do anything malicious with the website that's when you're going to get a knock at the door! I will not be held responsible for whatever you use this for this is simply just a tutorial / guide

What can I use homoglyph for ?

- a domain
- a forum users name
- a chatroom
- many many other things also!

you can use "character map" by typing that into windows search or you can go to this link Homoglyph Attack Generator and Punycode Converter

so pick your username that you want to clone and find a character here

paste that character into the appropriate place

now you have the exact username so you successfully cloned someone

now you have the exact username so you successfully cloned someone

This is my first tutorial I apologize if I didn't make it clear enough! I hope you get the idea.
