Thread: 10 million pot plants worth \$1 billion destroyed in Kern County

They killed the pot man! ?

Quote:NOV. 4, 2019 10:22 AM

Authorities in Kern County destroyed about 10 million marijuana plants being grown under the guise of industrial hemp.

Investigators with the Kern County Sheriff's Office seized the plants, which they estimate to have a street value of more than $1 billion, from 11 fields in the Arvin area on Oct. 25, according to a news release from the Sheriff's Office. The seizure was first reported by the Bakersfield Californian.

Industrial hemp is a variety of cannabis sativa plant that has much lower levels of the psychoactive chemical THC than are found in marijuana. Industrial hemp grown for commercial sale must, by law, contain no more than 0.3% THC, though there's an exemption for hemp grown for research purposes, the Sheriff's Office said.

The plants seized by investigators were being grown for commercial consumption and contained THC contents "well over" the legal limit, meaning that they "were in fact cannabis," the sheriff's office said. Kern County voted to ban commercial cannabis activity in 2017.

Damn that is a lot of weed lol.

It's a shame, not like they did the world any favors by killing some plants.

Yeah the drug war is a complete failure IMO. They really haven't helped the actual problem at all.

It's not a failure, the people who started the war are now insanely wealthy from the war.

True, it is a failure from a public health standpoint. It is terrible everyone else but those elite scumbags.

Crazy thing is that it could be any commodity. One day could sadly see a war on water.

For sure, the only thing that bugs me is that the true enemy is a herd of psychopaths. You know, the type of people who will do anything politics tell them, they have no conscience just waiting for more orders from the Broadcast. They will fuck you over as soon as they feel they have a safe chance, most are cowards, but some are clever, the real thing they all want is some sort of power over others in their life. You can often find them in lower management positions at walmarts and other run of the mill mega dept stores. Politicians know this type of human species exists and play it all the way to the bank. At least this is my view on mainstream politics in a paragraph.

"Industrial hemp" means a crop that is limited to types of the plant Cannabis sativa L. having no more than three-tenths of 1 percent tetrahydrocannabinol (THC) contained in the dried flowering tops, whether growing or not; the seeds of the plant; the resin extracted from any part of the plant; and every compound, manufacture, salt, derivative, mixture, or preparation of the plant, its seeds or resin produced therefrom.

Not legal if you are breaking that 3/10th threshold.

Not sure what the big fuss is about. Regulations are regulations.

Well honestly the hemp industry is the timber industries greatest threat. There is a lot more to the politics and regulations than people getting high.

Also how would you like someone destroying your 1 billion dollars worth of produce?

If I had 1 billion dollars worth of produce I would get my plants tested every 2 weeks for THC levels, owning a operation like that includes responsibility to correspond with regulations, not be willfully ignorant. There's legal limits to things, either comply within regulations or don't have the business and there's also the route of being a cannabis grower with it's own laws, and regulations this dude could have went for.

It's like fishing, if a certain fish you caught is under 14 inches and law says you can't keep a fish under 14 inches then you just can't or be the guy who eventually gets caught by Fish and wildlife services.

Sure it's a stupid rule but given marijuana is in the legal grey zone between federal and state levels you better be watching those regulations or get fucked by it in the long haul.

I do agree, seems like this was an illicit grow op anyways, must of had the DEA or some other agency undercover within.

Yeah I bet the DEA was involved more than likely through informants like you said probably another agency or just outright illicit advertising.

Honestly it's all petty I personally don't agree with marijuana being illegal or the restrictions of growing it but I didn't write the rules.

The legal system need to be rechecked and modernized (within reason).

Yeah it is definitely dumb that it is illegal, they haven't accomplished any of their goals through their lies and addiction rates to hardcore drugs are higher than ever. They will never stop drugs.

Well addiction to weed is 100% a mental habit forming substance, given alcohol is legal and more severe in terms of long term damage weed should be legal.

As for other drugs the addiction is way harder to beat and the only thing that can cure addiction is will power and some people don't like change or don't want to. So as for curing drug abuse it'll never happen.

Yeah I agree, I also don't think weed in any way correlates to other drug usage other then the fact that it is illegal. It is like saying cigarettes are the gateway drug to black tar heroin. If anything, opiates are the gateway to massive nicotine consumption in my experience.

Yeah it's all because of refer madness (propaganda film) and the government when analyzing the effect's of weed literally tested huge amounts on people making them green out and freak.

Also DM me on dis

Absolutely, don't forget sex. We should ban that too. You should have to fill out some government forms and pass an IQ test if you want to have sex.

After we ban guns for being nazi sympathizers, we can all live in world peace.
