Thread: Name my clothing line

unovu - November 9, 2019, 11:08 am

This is something I have wanted to do for a long time is start my own clothing line. I have finally saved enough money to start but I don't know what to name my clothing line. Although, I have some names in mind, this is still something I'm struggling with. One of my favorite clothing line is Ian Connor "Sicko" born from pain. It's really aesthetically pleasing and it looks really good. I wanna create something along this line in hopes of it being the "next big thing". I would really appreciate for any name suggestion you guys have! Thanks.

I would have to recommend "BOOMER" or if you want to seem hipster, "B00M3R"

If you want your clothing line to be all over the media with 0$ ad spend, then name it "Nick Gurr". Also don't forget to sponsor the KKK (Kool Kids Klub).

I've never seen you write this.

And I got it from the smart kids in class.

(totally not memers)

What type of line are you aiming to pursue? Streetwear maybe?

scam. - November 9, 2019, 1:05 pm

My advice is to quit while you're ahead because you'll never be the next big thing. Especially with a brand that just prints edgy pictures on shirts. There far too many of those as it is.

Do it for fun if you're gonna do it

I think this is the most realistic outcome OP. It's a very busy market.

Yes, I was thinking Streetwear.

This is nice, sounds nice if you pronounce it like "Boo shawn" kind of sounds like the Korean city Busan

If you're already lacking creativity for a name there's no way you're gonna be the "next big thing" in streetwear.

HF convo has become desolate since your departure :(

Astrogen - November 9, 2019, 6:15 pm

"unovu" sounds nice, weird names can get attention and hype real quick

More like bringing reality.

Everyone and their mother has tried starting a clothing line. There's so many it's extremely unlikely to gain traction.

If you're doing interesting designs with cut n sew then you have higher chances but screen printing on a gildan shirt won't cut it these days.

I would never want to detract from doing it as a hobby, however anyone going in with money signs in their eyes needs a reality check.

Market that shit on gay pages, ez sales since they all are so proud of "achieving" this "goal" and like to brag about it so much.
