Does anyone know if these work with all games, or just certain ones?

Don't buy a modded controller just get a CronusMAX or Titan One

Pretty sure pretty much all games combat the use of these now.

What are the main advantages of a modded controller? I used to want these back in the cod4/mw2 days for trigger but really nothing else.

I have a Cronusmax and it is fucking awesome. Makes a ton of things more easy, plus they have readily downloadable controller scripts that are pretty cool.

So it's not really and auto aim. All it does it aim in and out of focused fire while using aim assist to lock on. Most games have already figured this out and patched it. The big one being Fortnite. Not sure about many other games.

Yeah I'm pretty sure. But I've seen in many kill cams that some people are using these mods. I'm just trying to figure out if anyone knows of any thing that may work?

Some are really cool now got auto run extra buttons, and more things I use to use one for mw2 / mw3 I still got a video of it

This was me back in the day

If a controller is saying to have auto aim then it's bullshit.

Most FPS games nowadays have trigger limitations and auto-run included as a feature. I can see this useful maybe in a fighting game?

If you want a HUGE advantage over other players just get a XIM Apex :P
