Thread: How does a DDoS-for-hire service work?

Saul - November 12, 2019, 10:35 am

I'm definitely not looking to build one, only asking for educational purposes.
How is a stresser built? How is the targeted IP being attacked?

Also how does it work even though it is a website based?

Good evening,

it all depends on what exactly you're running and what exactly you want. Some services buy a bunch of virtual servers that each provide some sort of API to start attacks. Some services run their own botnets.

If you need help regarding development, please PM me :)

Best regards,

Good evening,

if you've read any of my other posts you'd know that I give out all of my advice for free and will never sell anything :)

The board rules forbid to build / advertise such services -> He's not building one -> educational purposes only.

What's wrong with my reply? Instead of criticizing me on something that I don't even do, you could provide value. But that of course would require the use of your brain.

Best regards,

You must not understand some of what you are saying then.

"If you need help regarding development, please PM me :)"

I'm not criticizing you, merely showing that you did not read correctly. Insulting me is not the way to go, I know what I'm saying.

I've no idea why you're trying to look smart, and using the following template "Good evening, (user)" , "Best Regards" thingy ? Everytime i see a post of yours, you're only covering the basic stuff, and not trying to actually help OP what else should I post? I can't give detailed answers to broad questions. If OP has a more detailed question, he can either quote me or PM me?

Good evening,

So this question is too broad? "How is the targeted IP being attacked?"

There is only one thing that can mean

Stop talking nonsense. It was enough to show me what you're capable of.
