Thread: How much money can you earn from developing online adult sex games?

Lindros - November 14, 2019, 12:29 pm

I know someone on here is currently making one. They usually have like Patreon or donation pages but can you get paid for plays/views?

Does anyone know how much money you can make for developing an average one or does anyone know how or if they even make money??

Like in YouTube you get different pay scales/payouts from advertising earnings I believe based on your niche and the quality of traffic you're bring. If it is all based on donations you might make nothing..

There's so many variable to look for.

You can for sure make a couple thousands a month with high quality trafic.

You have to plan multiple funnels to make you money with this game.

Just asking.

Will there be a Halal section? Just making sure I will be able to play it.

Rsynced - November 14, 2019, 12:41 pm

You could probably make a good amount if you affiliated with other porn sites and got referral sign up bonuses. You will just have to look at smut all day though...

Do you think Python/Pygame would be a good choice to make such a game?

Look up "Mount and Blade" that is made within python.

I wouldn't count on making much

To be honest, just by going through pornhub AD, there is no any good porn game.
I'm not sure where to find porn games, can you link me in PM?

Once I've checked for the AD it said "Be slave or master" so I clicked and it wanted a lot of personal details including CC and on-top of that, no company info. Such shame they do promote these shits.

If the game would be very realistic and if the game would also be like anonymous 1on1 chat that you would just give tasks to other person, that'd be great. There we have this Live-porn webcams but they are shit and extremely expensive in my opinion.

It's bad for the mental and emotional health, argue if you want, but it's a fact.

Money is also good for the mental and emotional health. And eating, and drinking, and having a social life and being able to live just in general.

Well, sit down with the family and make it Friday night porn night. Don't forget the popcorn. ?

Mr. Robot - November 20, 2019, 1:35 pm

It really depends on the target.

From what I can see, you're trying to upload content behind a subscription based service right? Unless you have the right ads and such.

I considered for a while trying to compete with Youtube - with a platform that was purely based on people being sponsored + viewer donations/subscriptions. No ads whatsoever except those who are sponsored.

Might need a bit more detail on what your end goal would be.
