Thread: any1 here has ever been raided?

CH00k - November 15, 2019, 11:28 am like literally , i think if i would get raided , I would shit my pants, well not really , but I would start shaking , my HR would go to 150 it would be a lot to handle, idk why is it.

what do you think? have you ever been raided, if so, what feelings you had? I think I would just freak out for a minute and it would take me few minutes if not hours to process the situation that happened

BTC - November 15, 2019, 11:30 am

Nope, never happened to me as I've never given a reason for it to happen.

Although if it were to happen, for some odd reason such as someone making a fake call to the police or something, then as soon as I see them pulling up I'd be on the ground lmfao spiral - November 15, 2019, 11:30 am i had the police come round before about some shitty rat i bought when i was like 13, i couldn't even remember buying it. nothing really happened

"raided for pot a lot"

Mr. Jelly.... define a lot. nobody gets raided "a lot"

I was raided when I was 16 years old. Luckily I'm from Denmark so it's not as bad as if I was from the states.

Anzee - November 16, 2019, 10:19 am

Have I been in a police raid related to computers? No.

Have I been in a police raid related to some other crime? Yes.

It's not that scary, they don't kick down your door. They knock and they give you a warrant. They do come ready to fight though so it's not exactly a positive encounter. Charges were dropped in this incident but the whole situation sucked ass.

Alex Buckland - November 16, 2019, 10:20 am

I was raided for webcam hacking and extortion. Police showed up. I saw them through the window and immediately knew it was police. They weren't in uniform. I saw them. My laptop wasn't encrypted. I quickly got my brother to go downstairs and tell my dad to tell them I wasn't here. I was hiding under the bed with my laptop haha they never got it. They asked me to bring it in to them right... Like I was gonna do that. So while they were interviewing me they decided to raid me while I was in the police station because of their failed arrest. This is the UK. The policeman investigating me is the biggest FAIL ever. His name is Tom Owen. Let me know if you dox him anyone lol. He looks like Al Murray.

Anyway. I can say this stuff because I was found not guilty and they can't touch me anymore.

SIM-3205632 - November 16, 2019, 10:22 am

Yes in 2016 for swatting won't go into too much details.

Suspect. - November 16, 2019, 3:36 pm

Yes, let me tell you one thing Make sure someone is there to watch them while they search the police are the biggest thieves going. On the warrant/inventory they listed nothing was taken which was complete bullshit they broke locks on my sheds & stole items.

"Protect & serve" bs more like steal & prosper fuck them. They are corrupt cunts don't trust them one bit.

One dumb thing they did was take Lightbulbs out of the lights in the loft. Like did they think I just couldn't put new ones in? Idiots lol - there is a special way to turn on the lights & they couldn't figure it out

Man I don't know where you live, but here, they raid you if you do something very illegal (even if you make drugs) and they basically open your door without you even hearing (they have some device, or they can also kick in), throw grenade in and rush in with MP AKs and so on, it's fucking scary. They drop you on the floor, search, put you mask on your face (in-case you are working with mafia so the cops won't get killed, the cops also do have masks and everything). It's fucking scary, there are videos from some of their actions on youtube.

I'm from EU. Central Eu sorta of.

Maybe if it's not something as bad, they will knock and show you warrant and rush it but i've never seen actions like this.

Sometimes they also knock and say "POLICE, OPEN THE DOOR" wait 5 seconds and if nothing they simply break in and rush....

They are fucking fast.

But had a scare when it was said a lot of raids were going to happen during the Luminosity Link

I just don't want to deal with people knocking on my door or going through my stuff for other people's actions.

Raided by FBI

Somewhere between 15-25 agents, most armed with rifles, some with pistols. Heard them approaching the house so met them at the front door. Got arrested. Was oddly calm, kind of just accepted it and went with the flow.

If you just turn yourself in and don't make it worse for yourself. Keep quiet, lawyer up and things go way smoother.

Pretty much. Lawyered up right away. I only interacted with the FBI twice, once when I was arrested and told them I wouldn't talk without a lawyer, and once when we willingly agreed to an interview with them. Everything else went through my lawyer, and he handled my case like a pro. Cost me an arm and a leg but things went better than anyone could have expected.

That's the way to do it. The cops aren't your friends, they don't make the deals. The DA and the state does so you don't tell them shit.

Lawyer up, keep your mouth shut and your lawyer will find every loophole in the fucking book to get you out.

That's exactly what happened. Accepted a deal for 5.5 years in prison. Lawyer then went off poking holes in their case, eventually poked enough holes in it that he demanded a new deal or we rescind my guilty plea. They came back and offered me a 2.5 year deal. Then in sentencing a combo of my lawyer being a pro, and the judge being very understanding, I walked away with 1 year.

Yeah. You're not guilty until proven otherwise.

And lawyers are lawyers because they've read every fucking book on the shelf at the library. They know exactly to put their foot down right on the shiny shoes of the DA and pressure them.

When they seize drugs they sell cmon now. They steal jewellery or anything worth of wealth that is small & compact. I know a guy knows another guy and he had his whole Rolex collection stolen (taken before they were even deemed proceeds of crime) with my stuff they just took a lot of rings and chains jewellery etc wasn't even deemed proceeds of crime either because it was way too early to assess that.

They are thieves end of & they break shit and you can't even get the fkers to pay for it. Seized laptops and destroyed the batteries on them scratched them up etc in their eyes they deem it as this persons a criminal let's just damage whatever we can

That is generally how it goes for this kinda stuff.

Anyone who talks tough like they would fight, it just full of total crap lol

I was not home when they executed the warrant against me but my room mate told me there was about 8 of them going through my sh1t.

They had to track me down to arrest me, and I knew they were coming before they got to me cause

I saw them on cameras. I could have "vanished" but whats the point? A warrant for arrest would have gone out and it would have just been a matter of time before they picked me up.

Not worth fighting the cops, you fight it in court, the proper way.

I agree, I would have never fight or run away from the cops unless I'm someone from mafia to get life imprisonment.

It'll only make everything worse.

But, they got the wrong hotel room number or something.

They did knock on my door with a search warrant, nothing scary thought. Few police offers looking for drugs because I was hanging out with a stupid crew.

Roberto Scorpius Malfoy - November 17, 2019, 1:32 pm

Happened to me twice.

First time I was at work so they just went quickly around and not big things happened except of that they searched my room (two police officers with uniforms)

Second time I was at home and luckily as I am I was alone so no one in the family could witness when 8 non uniform cops came in and started to search the whole house, all they got was my phone I tried desperately telling em that it wasnt my phone but they took it anyways.

Was arrested and they took my in to the police station, I told them I want a lawyer and they let me go immediatly since they did not have any lawyer available so I was like hey u took me from my house and i aint got anyone to drive me back i aint got money to buy a train ticket or so, they ended up driving me back home.

I found guilty two years after their raid.

Yeah you've never been raided so how would you know? In my experience that's what happened I'm keeping it 100

Seagulls - November 18, 2019, 5:11 am

I've not been raided as such but only many occassions I've had police knock on my door and then search the house/arrest me. This is the UK though not as dramatic as the US. The worst one was when I was watching on my CCTV and there was about 5-6 officers mostly undercover outside the house banging on the door and windows. I was not at home and I was terrified they would bust the door in.

They didn't. It's incredibly embarrassing considering it's not a bad neighbourhood and the neighbours now think I'm always doing dodgy shit. I agree with some other comments on this thread. I always respected the police until I became "involved" and then you finally understand how corrupt they are. They will do ANYTHING and EVERYTHING to try and prosecute you for something, even if you aren't guilty and even if they know you aren't guilty.

I suggest you all watch "Crimebodge" on YouTube. I used to phone him up and discuss police matters often, before his YouTube got really big.

that guy literally told he just don't trust you, you also gonna have doubts if i say i just robbed the bank or apple store.

Your reaction is slightly pathetic.

Then why ask a question if you don't believe what people are telling you has happened to them anyway? Makes no sense. It's slightly pathetic to you because you are a child look at your threads lol Suspect, now I lost all my hopes.

Not sure why did you got out of your way and started talking in a aggressive way.

I don't know what question do you mean, I simply said that I can't neither confirm or deny if this has happened, and I just can't simply trust you.

I'm not saying you are lying but you must get it yourself.....

We are on the internet and you can say anything you want. I'm not interested in paper work as it can be falsified.

What question do you mean?

I'm not sure why do you go off-topic now, I just gave you an example and reasons why OP may have doubts on trusting you.

You're just a troll anyway, asking people for what has happened and then you don't believe them anyway. What a complete moron why even ask in the first place? Some of you kids must of been dropped on your head as babies I swear

I hope you are not talking about yourself, I don't know if you have ADHD or ADD but my question was if you've ever been raided and what was your feelings.

You brought here that you've been raided and on top of that you've also said that some if not all of your stuff was stolen by the Police.

Which was not the question anyway but I didn't blame you for that and continued with the flow.

I've answered that I wouldn't be surprised if they've done it but what would they even do with Lightbulbs for not even $5 or how much are they?

On top of that, I've asked where you are from.

You've again posted what you have or had stolen on which I've answered that I don't know what to think of, cause it has never happened to me, I never heard experience like that neither my surroundings and therefore I can't relate or even know if it has really happened. There is simply no prove for me or for anyone else and I would only make assumptions, that makes sense or doesn't it?

After my response, you've started with your nagging behaviour.

I even wanted to follow with the debate and know more yet you didn't let me to, not sure why did you started acting out..

I understand that when someone doesn't believe you even with the fact you are right, will make someone angry but you must understand and see the reasons from my side, I simply can't trust anyone with that. Also as again, I'm not saying you are lying.
