Thread: What do you think about SWEDEN

Bossk - November 17, 2019, 2:48 pm

Hello hackers.

Just wondering, what is your general idea of Sweden? I'm very interested in knowing how you feel about this. Please include your nationality in your post ?

Slim - November 17, 2019, 2:53 pm

American.

I wanted to move there when I was a kid. It seems peaceful.

I want to walk the streets of stockholm during a winter evening so bad.

Natas - November 17, 2019, 3:11 pm

I think there gun laws are really impressive.

They have a really good gun crime rate.

Smexy - November 17, 2019, 3:36 pm

I think Sweden has a lot of beautifull sights to see once in a lifetime.

sadasdasdwads - November 17, 2019, 5:06 pm

American.

I think Sweden has one of the best economic systems in the world. They seem to have found a balance between capitalism and socialism, bringing out the best of both systems. I wish America followed in their footsteps.

Bluffer - November 17, 2019, 5:10 pm

I'm Canadian.

I think it'd be a cool place to visit. My understanding is Sweden is well ahead on technology of the future (apparently cash isn't a thing there at all anymore) and the country is very Liberal.

Nachfolger - November 17, 2019, 5:41 pm

Mexican.

Although I think the country is fantastic, Sweds in general are trashy drug dealers. The one swed I know smoked meth out of a moldy coke can. Messed up dude.

I'm from Canada and I imagine Sweden a bit like us, cold weather and friendly people.

I believe there's a lot of attractive blonde women there too ?

SteezyLeff - November 17, 2019, 7:55 pm
It's a nice country, interesting economics as the Nordic regions are considered to be "socialist," but at the same time the markets are hyper-capitalist. Some beautiful women too. My only gripe could be a bit regarding politics, but we won't get into that :P

Miles Morales - November 17, 2019, 11:56 pm
The only honest thing i could say about sweden was my experience as a consultant in a swedish subsidiary operating in my country.

And honestly, seems like you have one of the best corporate culture, kicking people out of the office at 7pm didn't bother me ?

SIM-4378207 - November 18, 2019, 12:09 am
I've been there. Life there is pretty boring but it is a really beautiful country to go and visit and relax from your everyday problems.

Deal - November 18, 2019, 12:10 am
My dad lives in Sweden. It's a nice place, people are super friendly. Much more than in Denmark. Too bad that Sweden has had a very very light immigrant policy, which results in daily bombings, and war zones where native swedes can't enter.

Root-Senpai - November 18, 2019, 1:32 am hello im french!

sweden is very nice, only been once when I was young but i remember a little, was good trip ?

pms - November 18, 2019, 1:36 am
There is a video made by angry foreigner called "Welcome to sweden". I think that video shows the state of sweden atm. Sweden can be good if you ignore all the bad parts about it, But there are far more bad parts than good.

duck - November 18, 2019, 2:10 am
Tbh we know what sweden is but I don't think we know much about the country here.
never really learned about sweden or anything.

I can't say much about the country other than people here like all Scandinavia countries and we have ikea here and that's from sweden.

Oh one thing, I heard that Sweden has a lot of muslims.

maxm9920 - November 19, 2019, 6:23 pm

Idyllic, expensive cigarettes and green energy.

This pretty much sums it up for my opinion, plus the lovely grenades you can randomly stumble on or get tossed in your house.

Or Swedish women sleeping with migrant children, not even adults I mean actual children.

All the while Sweden is ignorant to the fact the nationalities these migrants are coming from are not pro womens rights yet are the most liberal politically willing to defend the migrants that are not even with swedens values.

Reminds me of the movie green inferno, they think they are doing right but it's all going to bite them in the ass eventually.

DrDoof - November 20, 2019, 3:29 pm

It's the best nation in the World but they had it too good for too long and now their minds are warped beyond saving. The Swedish people will be gone by the end of our lifetimes and the country will be Sweden only in name.

I'm from Sweden.

Roberto Scorpius Malfoy - November 20, 2019, 5:43 pm

Left Sweden 2 years ago after living there for over 20 years.

Sweden was one of the best countries back when the first immigrants came because they were hard working ones.

What I like about Sweden:Bossk , their biggest national treasure

flavoral doesn't live there

A wonderful socio-economic system

Beautiful women

Beautiful landscapes

What I dislike about Sweden:

IKEA (especially when combined with a girlfriend)

You guys tried to sue Julian Assange for an 'alleged' rape case

Nordic people are very altruistic, very empathetic, eager to help. Mix that with having everything and go without hardships for over two hundred years and you get a people who give away more than they have, and assume nothing will change. Sweden in the 60s-70s used to be absolutely fantastic. Most Swedish adults today grew up in the safest place on earth. They had nothing to fear, they lived great lives because of social democracy and they got everything handed to them.

Unreasonable politics follow, and voila, your society is going down the shitter.

Your osrs acc is absolutely insane btw.

What? the Laws maybe is good but thats not stoping anyone to do crime, Just search for "Malmö Sweden".

for 2-3 years ago they changes the law on guns because we had a lot of problems. now you get like 2 years for carrying a loaded gun.

In Malmö you dont even have to buy a gun you can just rent a gun! :p

- Haven you hear about the "Los Suecos" ?
- for couple of months ago they shot a woman who carries a baby!
- Hells angels and Bandidos are pretty active here in Sweden.
- The Mexican cartel use Helsingborg ships to deliver drugs to EU.
- and dont get me to start with the explosives here.

Lozemlpsum - December 12, 2019, 2:21 am

European here.

Sweden should be a beautiful country, but I never been there nor do I have the plans to pay it a visit. I went to Denmark and Norway, Norway is one of the neighbour countries of Sweden and I must say, it's pretty cold but beautiful there.

For those who live in Sweden, tell me why I should visit Sweden. I'd love to hear about it first handed.

SIM-1349466 - December 12, 2019, 2:50 am

Seems nice. Always wanted to visit there and Norway.

What you bring up has nothing to do with gun laws, do you think loosening the gun laws would result in less gun violence? As you say, the criminals already have guns, loosening gun laws would only make it easier for them to acquire even more guns.

Sweden is a nice place, I love the streets of Sweden, the architecture, people, food and the culture overall. I'm from Finland so I've visited Sweden a bunch. It's a shame that the immigration problem has gotten out of hand there, making it a relatively unsafe place to live (looking to crime graphs and news articles)... Looks like a lot of people here share the same opinion. Eftersom det är en trevligt land!

Nevertheless, Sweden is a Nordic welfare state in the end and way safer than many other countries.

Stork - December 12, 2019, 8:44 am

Really don't have an opinion about Sweden what makes it special? What is your opinion about Chile?

(Dec 12, 2019 08:30 AM)BossUp Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Isn't college free in Sweden or am I confusing with another country

Nothing is free lol. Sweden is just another authoritarian shithole that can't defend itself or meet its basic NATO obligations.

Oh I thought you would get what free means in that context.

It means that those who enroll in school don't pay money towards school directly, like in some countries. And what NATO obligations does Sweden have since we're not a member of NATO???

Quote: Oh I thought you would get what free means in that context.

I do, nothing is free. I would rather pay 20-40k for professional school and be taxed (theft) 23-26% than have it handed to me by a subpar Swedish school and then get taxed 61%+

Quote: It means that those who enroll in school don't pay money towards school directly, like in some countries.

Yes they just are forced to pay more than half their income regardless if they are college educated or not.

Quote: And what NATO obligations does Sweden have since we're not a member of NATO???

None I guess never really knew that! I sure as hell won't want to be in Sweden come the next big war.

Sweden's alright, no beef against them. Had foreign exchange student in high school and he was a cool dude. Still got him on Facebook.
