This member took money from me while not accepting the contract he told me to create. He then provided me with very wrong answers for his "Homework Help". He told me I would receive correct answers when he got home he instead refunded me 50% and blocked me on discord. Very bad service provider along with blatantly scamming me out of 50% of my payment for no provided fix on the work like he stated he would do.

Contract he never accepted but took payment from me:

He told me he would not fix my work with that review there which makes no sense considering I still paid him to do so. I told him I would wait for him to come up with the correct answers to remove it if I felt like I should. He then just blocked me.

He provided me with completely wrong answers which I myself had to correct for a paid service. I had another member find the same exact problems on Che-g-g and help me for free.

We went over the problems in class today and the ones the member helped find for me on Che-g-g were correct and Rith was completely on another planet with the work he was sending me.

This is the work I get sent for paying money for:

No real explanation where he is getting these numbers from seems kinda made up to me as the real answers discussed in class today were nowhere near these answers. Seems like he just did not even think about the answers he was putting down. He claimed it was a mistake he 10x the first 90% answer but even then the answers were not correct.

Always wait for the seller to start a contract, that way if this happens you can dispute it.
