Do not bother with this "service" with the clickbait and misleading information.

The claim here in this following quote is bogus and bull$hit

Why? If THEY had such a record/reputation they'd be posting on an account. The simple fact of the matter is that they're targeting those who browse the "BEGINNER HACKING" section for one reason and one reason only.. They know that whomever is looking for guidance on the most simple of "hacking" will be the demographic for victims easiest//requiring the least amount of.

Don't say I didn't at least try to warn you.

YES & it's one thing to do something like this (depending on your views and morale compass but then again look where we are LOL) but then it's another to literally target the only other people who are on some level at the same in some way shape or form..

That's why I'm gonna start anti-scam posting and baiting scammers as well.
