What episode are you on?

I got to like episode 15 and it seemed as if it was just about having "cool" battles and not a progressing story line.

Do you watch a lot of different anime or are you new to the genre?

Ngl one piece is the only anime i've ever watched. I also don't know if I can watch any other animes because I recently lost my virginity.

When I started watching OP I was at episode 100 in a couple days, I guess we just really like it haha

Never got into, I would have to start all the way at the beginning, this would take a year to watch all the episodes up to date.

CrockTok - December 4, 2019, 11:55 pm

If there wasn't that many episodes i would watch it but there are 800 episodes and the story is just towed as a loom.

A lot of the time, One Piece is about cool battles but there is a plot, a story line and a huge world that Oda has created. It is easy to connect with the characters.

I fully understand what you mean by not a progressing story line but in the first probably 200 episodes you're still learning about the world. Different Pirates which are either not important at all or which will reoccur later on and playing somewhat a big role. But when you've actually started on the Anime instead of being in the chapter where Luffy is gathering the base of his team, you'll start to feel like there is progress happening.

It is extremely long and thus One Piece isn't for everyone.

Cool thing about One Piece is the main character starts out overpowered, which is the opposite of many Shonen lol
