Thread: Microsoft .net framework error?

MATTALIC - November 27, 2019, 7:23 am

I'm getting some sort of a microsoft .NET Framework window popping up when I click build on this keylogger software and nothing happens. Any tips?

Might be infected, what kind of error is it?

Do you have all the necessary frameworks installed?

You mind sending me the sample?

Once I get home I'll screenshot it and send to ya! Just got to work, Not sure about frameworks honestly. I've never done anything with that kinda stuff before.

The stub.tmp is your keylogger in the making. the buillder deleted it after it finish making your keylogger. your error really have problem because it cannot find the dll.

I will do more test. i only know the problem was not on the same location with builder.

Happy for you, test the keylogger on your vm if it works. might be broken because of tha error. i already fixed the icon in the next version, just waiting to be upgraded so i can update the thread with the new link.
