Thread: Is this creepy?

HF.Psych - December 1, 2019, 1:05 pm

So,

I was in Mcdonalds last night with my friend, she ordered her food and we sat. This girl was cleaning the place, she's really nice. We chatted for like a few minuets, and we left. But she's been on my mind all night, saw her again and caught her name badge. Found her on FB but I'm too much of a pussy to chat to her in person, so should I just message her on FB?

Xo-Zo - December 1, 2019, 1:08 pm

Speak to her irl, Facebook will make you look like a stalker

Yep, this...

Keep talking to her in IRL. Few times later, ask her if she has Facebook and see if you can add her.

Blogger - December 1, 2019, 1:33 pm

Yes, that is creepy. If a guy I didn't personally know, or a customer I spoke to once, tried adding me on anything I would find it fucking creepy and steer clear of him.

Nate - December 1, 2019, 1:35 pm

Yeah thats very creepy, I would ask for her socials before you msg

GXCS - December 1, 2019, 1:35 pm

Whenever you find someone you like just go say hi it doesn't hurt.

Mr. Robot - December 1, 2019, 1:40 pm

All this pussies up above, just hit her up on facebook and just be like - caught your name tag while we were at mcdonalds and thought i'd hit you up. Really enjoyed chatting with ya.

It's not hard or creepy. She will either be happy with the message or not. Only one way to find out - if she thought it was creepy you messaging her, it's even creepier hitting her up in person - making her uncomfortable.

This is the best advice given thus far. Agreed.

On social media she can just ignore or block you. In person she can feel pressured and uncomfortable. Shit this is what I would message her on media.

"Hey! I noticed your name tag the other night while you were working and enjoyed chatting with you. Didn't want to make you feel uncomfortable at work so thought i'd give you a message through here"

And if you are really beta.

""Hey! I noticed your name tag the other night while you were working and enjoyed chatting with you. Didn't want to make you feel uncomfortable at work so thought i'd give you a message through here, bit creepy I guess but thought you were really interesting to chat to."

Its almost like people communicated and mated before social media existed. Wonder how they did that?

Seriously lmao. People need to grow some balls.

Even though I think it's perfectly fine to ask for her socials in person, when are you going to do it? Intentionally go down while she's at her place of work where her focus is making money to pay for the shit to get her through to another week (cleaning) and then make her possibly feel uncomfortable by being either;

A.) Creepy and possibly making her concerned you are waiting for her after work.

B.) Uncomfortably handing out her social media to you to make it less awkward.

Not saying you can't ask her in person but this idea of it being creepier to ask on SM is stupid.

The answer always depends on one thing buddy : The Girl ?

Maybe she likes shy guys and she will appreciate that you noticed her name and you didn't intend to disturb her when she was working, she will think it's cute to talk to her from FB because you don't want to annoy her at her job ?

However she could also think this weird and psychopathic by stalking her on FB and looking at her boobs when she was giving you your order ? , you can also talk to her at her work, maybe she would be in a good mood, having a good day and telling you : Let's get a drink after my work, I end my day in 20 minutes ? Or maybe she will tell you : I already have a boyfriend (even if she doesn't even have one) so please stop sexual assaulting me ?

So the best answer is : IT DEPEEEEEEEENDS ?

Welcome to "I find a girl cute's world and I don't know how it will end" ?

Numerous studies have been done on this.

Females will tend to find it creepy only if the guy isn't attractive to her. While if you are ugly, it's more likely she will find it creepy.

Well I just messaged her, kinda felt awkward but hey, if it fails I'll just have to learn to enjoy KFC

Sounds advise.
Talk to her in person... If she gets a random fb request you'll look like a stalker

Just talk to her a few more times OP

HF.Psych - December 2, 2019, 2:31 pm

Well I sent her a message mainly just to say I appreciate what she does ect. But because we aren't "connected" the message has likely gone to her other folder. Maybe fate will have it thst I'm meant to actually talk to her. Maybe it's what she wants???

I'd still approach her IRL, don't say "I messaged you". Keep that out of IRL conversation but get to know her.

Rsynced - December 2, 2019, 5:45 pm

You should go back to the mcdonalds and talk to her.

Patriot - December 2, 2019, 9:50 pm

Dead honest I banged a chick this same way she worked at a tobacco store and had a nice chest tat.

It became obsessive tbh I started talking to her on fb and she didnt recognize it was me but when we met up she was like I know you your always coming in the store. I just played it off as a coincidence I got laid was worth it.

It looks creepy either by messaging her or even if you keep talking to her in person. she might just think of you as just another customer. the message that you sent her is very creepy. I appreciate what you do. it sounds like you were checking out her ass and you make that kind of remark as she's cleaning up. just saying us guys have it hard because no matter what you do it looks creepy as fugg if the girl doesn't like you attempts. if you're not good looking you will look like a creeper. if you're hot and good looking that has a job and makes good money then again she might brush off the creepy ways you talk to her and still like you or think it's sweet.

again that's if you have good looks if not she will think you're a creep regardless. All i can say that by trying something is better than not trying at all. I mean as long she doesn't call the cops. ? ?

You know shit. Fuck off.

I was talking in regards to his situation, I don't just go outside randomly saying hi to people.

johannesmeserly79 - December 3, 2019, 6:30 pm

It might be a little creepy idk what to tell you

Lindros - December 3, 2019, 7:16 pm

No bro just ask her for her snapchat in real life. That's what I'd do.

honsoto - December 4, 2019, 7:29 am

There is no way of knowing what she is thinking. Go back there strike up conversation with her again and ask for her number. Not going to lie, first impressions count, your best bet was to have asked her for her number when you first met her. You could add her, after all that is what Facebook is for, it would be creepy to start sending her messages if she doesn't respond to your request though.
