

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: tesla cybertruck?

dangelofrancesco - December 2, 2019, 3:56 pm

what you think about that? and please dont be like some of my friends "is not a car" who can say how need to look a car? and i know electric cars on my opinions are something to middle and next come are cars from hidrogen but we dont use a car for 30-50 years so ye this question is for now..

PS; i dont like cars, im not a fck fan of a brand, just i need a machine to offer me space and take me from A to B with not much cost.. and if is still can take some DMG will be great..

yes yes i dont know when will be a accident who take more dmg me or the ouside victim / object. but just curios about this PS2:i dont like trucks i mean i have not idea why to take a truck but this car seems to be something nice and in my opinion worth to buy it i mean have so many benefits...

so some tips? pro / cons? etc?

KrazyHigh - December 2, 2019, 4:00 pm

I would be all over it considering I'm a contractor but some of my jobs are 3+ hours away and I'm not sure the battery would last.

Grim - December 2, 2019, 4:10 pm

From a pure cost point of view the tier 3 model for $70k is WAY under priced for how it performs.

0-60 Faster then a porche 911

Can tow almost double what most trucks can tow now

Those two features alone should make the car $100k AT LEAST

My guess they will raise the price when it actually comes out. i did pre-order one cas why not $100? and its refundable

MavenGradle - December 2, 2019, 4:11 pm

I still like how the windows just broke. Even the one that didn't get its door hammered.

Unexplained - December 2, 2019, 4:14 pm

I wonder how tesla will do once all the other MAJOR car manufacturers enter the electric car market. Tesla really doesn't have much competition right now when you think of it.

Grim - December 2, 2019, 4:17 pm

(Dec 2, 2019 05:14 PM)TheBanker Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I wonder how tesla will do once all the other MAJOR car manufacturers enter the electric car market. Tesla really doesn't have much competition right now when you think of it.

True next year the Rivian comes out with there electric truck which is the only one coming close i think to competing.

Unexplained - December 2, 2019, 4:56 pm

(Dec 2, 2019 05:17 PM)Grim Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) True next year the Rivian comes out with there electric truck which is the only one coming close i think to competing.

Yeah it will be interesting to see what happens to Tesla in the future.
If I recall correctly Tesla just turned a profit last quarter too.

dangelofrancesco - December 2, 2019, 5:10 pm

just curios .. if you will hold a tesla cybertruck and random people will try to test if can resist? im just only worried about this?

Unexplained - December 2, 2019, 5:20 pm

(Dec 2, 2019 06:10 PM)dangelofrancesco Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) just curios .. if you will hold a tesla cybertruck and random people will try to test if can resist? im just only worried about this?
I'm wondering what you're trying to say...??

vad0x - December 2, 2019, 5:20 pm

design - ugly (con)
speed - crazy (pro)
range - crazy near 500 miles. (pro)

i think generally the pros outweigh the cons. And the price isnt bad for base model.

(Dec 2, 2019 05:17 PM)Grim Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) True next year the Rivian comes out with there electric truck which is the only one coming close i think to competing.
yea that rivian is what the tesla truck shouldve looked like

Popstar - December 2, 2019, 5:33 pm

I think it's pretty cool. Good price, heavy duty, electric, autopilot, made of stainless steel... (or whatever kind of steel) sounds like the perfect truck imo

Rsynced - December 2, 2019, 5:45 pm

Diesel is superior to electricity ?

Ravioli - December 2, 2019, 9:00 pm

it's sick imo

interior looks pretty ass, though

Linux X - December 3, 2019, 1:04 am

(Dec 2, 2019 05:14 PM)TheBanker Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I wonder how tesla will do once all the other MAJOR car manufacturers enter the electric car market. Tesla really doesn't have much competition right now when you think of it.

Yeah, most of the car manufacturers have only concepts. Tesla is the king at the moment.

Cooligan - December 3, 2019, 1:24 am

I love the concept, I love Elon Musk so it's very easy to get behind another one of his projects, and I love the innovation and motivation he has to make this world a better one.

The only thing however is the windows need better reinforcement.

They did a test where they threw rocks at the window and it actually cracked and spider-webbed the window when Elon claimed it wouldn't do anything to the window.

My one of two possible theories: 1.) it was a marketing stunt on Elon's part which is something both himself and Tesla is known for. 2.) it was a genuine accident that Elon wasn't prepared for and either the window glass wasn't the real glass they'd use on actual models and/or test glass, OR, the initial demonstration panels of glass were just not up to par with what the for-sale versions would've had.

Either way, I see Elon making this successful. The gas mileage is amazing, the performance capabilities are amazing, and many more features which I'm sure will only get better over time knowing Elon.

Ravioli - December 3, 2019, 3:24 am

(Dec 3, 2019 02:24 AM)Cooligan Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I love the concept, I love Elon Musk so it's very easy to get behind another one of his projects, and I love the innovation and motivation he has to make this world a better one.

The only thing however is the windows need better reinforcement.
They did a test where they threw rocks at the window and it actually cracked and spider-webbed the window when Elon claimed it wouldn't do anything to the window.

My one of two possible theories: 1.) it was a marketing stunt on Elon's part which is something both himself and Tesla is known for. 2.) it was a genuine accident that Elon wasn't prepared for and either the window glass wasn't the real glass they'd use on actual models and/or test glass, OR, the initial demonstration panels of glass were just not up to par with what the for-sale versions would've had.

Either way, I see Elon making this successful. The gas mileage is amazing, the performance capabilities are amazing, and many more features which I'm sure will only get better over time knowing Elon. I agree with everything you said here. It could of been on purpose or not, it's pretty funny either way. In 2021 he will DEFINITELY fix the windows at that point.

Cooligan - December 3, 2019, 4:11 am

(Dec 3, 2019 04:24 AM)Ravioli Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I agree with everything you said here. It could of been on purpose or not, it's pretty funny either way. In 2021 he will DEFINITELY fix the windows at that point.

Oh yeah for sure, he won't let something minor like that get in the way of making this truck.
If a company in Texas could create extreme bulletproof windows back in 2010-11~ Elon is more than capable of coming up with something in 2019.

Also not to mention that at the show, when Elon asked the other guy on stage to throw the rock at the window, the other guy looked hesitant as if he was wondering something like for example whether Elon knew that the glass was in fact not the same glass they'd use and the other guy wasn't prepared for that part of the demonstration, OR, he was just somewhat surprised that Elon wanted to take that route and try it on a beta test? I'm not sure. Either way, you can definitely notice a certain "look" in that other guys face when Elon asks. He also literally said "You sure?!" when Elon asked.

Oh and to top it off, it does 0-60 in 2.9 seconds. ?

Where he starts talking about the glass/windows in general: <https://youtu.be/464puoD09dM?t=350>
When the windows break, both driver side and rear: <https://youtu.be/464puoD09dM?t=441>

Ravioli - December 3, 2019, 4:12 am

(Dec 3, 2019 05:11 AM)Cooligan Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Oh yeah for sure, he won't let something minor like that get in the way of making this truck.

If a company in Texas could create extreme bulletproof windows back in 2010-11~ Elon is more than capable of coming up with something in 2019.

Also not to mention that at the show, when Elon asked the other guy on stage to throw the rock at the window, the other guy looked hesitant as if he was wondering something like for example whether Elon knew that the glass was in fact not the same glass they'd use and the other guy wasn't prepared for that part of the demonstration, OR, he was just somewhat surprised that Elon wanted to take that route and try it on a beta test? I'm not sure. Either way, you can definitely notice a certain "look" in that other guys face when Elon asks. He also literally said "You sure?!" when Elon asked.

Oh and to top it off, it does 0-60 in 2.9 seconds. ?

Where he starts talking about the glass/windows in general: <https://youtu.be/464puoD09dM?t=350>
When the windows break, both driver side and rear: <https://youtu.be/464puoD09dM?t=441> isn't this the fastest "truck" ever then?

Cooligan - December 3, 2019, 4:16 am

(Dec 3, 2019 05:12 AM)Ravioli Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) isn't this the fastest "truck" ever then?
I'm not sure about stock, but possibly yes.

I know the Ford Raptor is wicked fast so that could be a contender right there.

Aftermarket though, not even close lol.

Ravioli - December 3, 2019, 5:40 am

(Dec 3, 2019 05:16 AM)Cooligan Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm not sure about stock, but possibly yes.

I know the Ford Raptor is wicked fast so that could be a contender right there.

Aftermarket though, not even close lol. Where I live everyone has a pickup truck. Having one of these would be like the ultimate "fuck you" to all those people LMAO.

Agent Shark - December 3, 2019, 5:59 am

The cyber truck is definitely something I liked the more I saw it. It took some time though.

wiz - December 3, 2019, 6:51 am

There were several posts about this already. I really like it and there is a chance I might get it!

Cooligan - December 3, 2019, 8:28 am

(Dec 3, 2019 06:40 AM)Ravioli Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Where I live everyone has a pickup truck. Having one of these would be like the ultimate "fugg you" to all those people LMAO.
Do you live in a more southern area or just a hard work force area?

Also US or?

Moon Clown - December 3, 2019, 10:01 am

To much like a truck from halo. Ugly if you ask me.

hayesh - December 3, 2019, 12:11 pm

Its hideous however its saved by its performance