Thread: Do you enjoy Anime more when feeling alone?

Mr. Corleone - December 5, 2019, 12:55 pm

I noticed that I enjoy watching Anime regardless of genre like 5 times more when I feel alone, especially real-life/drama/ type of genres.

It feels good to feel alone and then put all your focus into watching an anime and get lost into it and forget about the world outside.

Every emotion is more intense, be it sadness or happiness.

I also feel more attached to characters.

What about ya'll? I'm curious to know if there are others who feel the same.

CrockTok - December 5, 2019, 2:11 pm

Ye, of course it distract u from your minds.

ankitkhosya - December 5, 2019, 2:57 pm

No, i am mostly fed up with Anime and i now like watching it on level of any other entertainment medium, instead of being hyped for every season and discussing multiple shows and repeating this cycle, I dont watch "Anime", i just watch stuff that sometimes happens to be Anime.

So you say you don't watch anime, then proceed to say that you sometimes do.

Confusing!

Privthost - December 6, 2019, 10:52 am

I feel exactly same, watching anime is much more enjoyable for me when I'm alone and I know that I wont be getting disturbed anytime soon.

Hmm, are you implying it's weird to 'be' alone?
Also I didn't say anything about how lonely I feel.

Use your head before making posts, you're embarrassing yourself.

Cheddar Cheese - December 7, 2019, 6:51 pm

I love anime and my surroundings doesn't change that but we're all different!

Nowhere did I say I cry alone at night watching anime.
And even if I did, does it really mean anything in this conversation?
Ah god, learn to use your head because you're dumb.

No watching anime while feeling lonely will make me feel like shit, but I get attached too quickly.
one of the main reasons I don't watch no anime-tiddies anymore.

I understand what you mean. I have been there... but I enjoy anime as an art though as an adult now. I do admit I am lonely, in a positive and a negative way.

well yes that reasoning doesn't make sense.
What's entertainments purpos?
To forget real!
That's why when lonely u are more wanting to escaping the real, so u are more likelably to watch.
lol dumb logic.

Lyrarei - December 10, 2020, 8:16 pm

I enjoy anime at all times so not I feel like watching even if I'm busy, as long as the story is good.

HardcoreLeveling - December 22, 2020, 7:04 pm

I also enjoy it watching alone for some weird reason some people even give you spoiler if you have someone watching with you haha. I can also watch with someone else as-long they enjoy it and not getting in to cellphone while watching it.
