Thread: Last season of Mr Robot is great

Mild spoilers ahead if you're not up to date.

Ever since GoT I've had somewhat low expectations for series finales in general, but damn the last season of Mr Robot has been amazing.

Sure there are arguments to be made about some not very realistic aspects of the show, but I don't know any other show of this quality with the same level of realism. No other episode of any show has been as much of a gutwrench as episode 407, fantastic plot twist. And 409 literally had me on the edge of my seat from start to finish. 407 is even #1 on IMDb right now if I'm not mistaken.

Just a great show with amazing acting, cinematography, character development and storytelling.

Mr Robot is an awesome show, but i somehow think this season is being somewhat rushed in order to end it. I will miss it for sure.

Does it get good again because season 1 was amazing but season 2 started killing it

From what I hear, most people find that the first half drags on, but that the second half picks it up and is also considered by some to be the best of the entire series.

TLDR: It's fantastic till the end, in my opinion.
