Anyone invested? Would you call a 600$ investment for long term stupid?

I've met some of the developers. They're kind of the joke of the anonymous coins in my opinion. Stick with Monero or one of the other popular ones.

Damn, i've like $800 usd right now ready to invest into something but i've already have XRP/ETH/FLEXA/PIVX/BTC and i want to put another coin in my collection.

Any suggestions?

What about BAT? I'm assuming Flexa=FXC

Never thought investing in it.

Do you believe it's a fine idea?

600$ is pennies in the investing world.

Even if you have minor belief that this coin can do better than it does now in future, i'd suggest you to put those 600$..

I like it. Down 20-30% from last week. Not even long term but short term I think 10-15% is a good place to pick up. I try to accumulate RVN as close to 300 sats as possible then sell for 5-10% on the daily charts.

How about Monero? It is the real deal, the only true privacy-orientated coin.

Its a nice coin to day trade with. Just try to get it at the lowest you possibly can and then sell it once it goes up by a few sats.
